ANTI YANK RIOTS HIT FORMOSA

'Foul Play' in Disappearance

Mother of Two Sons Missing

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Police said today they believe an Elizabeth Township woman who disappeared Tuesday night while driving home from a prayer meeting "had met with foul play."

Township Police Chief James Vota said the woman, Mrs. Mildred M. DeVirgilio, 44, mother of two teen-aged sons, was a "loyal mother and did not disappear of her own free will."

Vota said he had three notes, "threatening in nature," which arrived at the woman's home this week. One arrived on Tuesday, the day of her disappearance, and the others on Wednesday and Thursday.

One of the notes was signed by "Mr. Rock." The others were not signed.

The woman's family said she had been receiving unsigned, threatening notes for the past several months.

May Call on FBI

Vota said Allegheny County Detectives Jerry Berry and Matt Vanial, who had been working on the case since the start, probably would seek the help of the state police and perhaps the FBI.

Mrs. DeVirgilio was last seen at 10 p.m. Tuesday when she left a prayer meeting in McKeesport, near here. About an hour later her son, George, 16, found her car parked off the side of the Greenock-Buena Vista Road, not far from their home on Greenock Road.

Vota said circumstances indicated the car had been forced off the road by another vehicle. The woman's car was not damaged.

Vota said police have no suspects "at the moment."

Police and Buena Vista firemen searched a wooded area near the DeVirgilio home until 2:30 a.m., e.d.t., today. They were to resume the search at daybreak.

Worried over Notes

Mrs. Loretta B. Hosfelt, of Elizabeth Township, who had attended Tuesday night's prayer meeting with Mrs. DeVirgilio, said the missing woman was concerned about the notes she was receiving and had told her, "I am afraid of that man."

Vota said Mrs. DeVirgilio's husband, from whom she had been separated "for some time," was believed living "somewhere in the McKeesport area," but had not been located.

H said police also wanted to question a former hired hand who set fire to the DeVirgilio home last January after he was let go from his job. The hired hand made restitution and was placed on probation, Vota said.

Frank Shutterly

Frank Shutterly, Pioneer Burgess, Dies at Age 99

Frank H. Shutterly, 99, believed to be Monessen's oldest resident, died at 5:15 yesterday afternoon at his home at 232 Donner Ave.

Mr. Shutterly, one of Monessen's pioneer residents and public officials, would have been 100 years old on August 18.

Death came to Monessen's fourth burgess while he was asleep. Members of his family were at his bedside.

A resident of Monessen for 57 years, Mr. Shutterly was born in Coal Center in 1857 and moved to Monessen in 1900.

From 1905 to 1909, he served as burgess. In 1907 he officiated at the opening of the Charleroi-Monessen Bridge.

On School Board

Mr. Shutterly had been a member of the Monessen School Board for 18 years and had been a Sunday School teacher most of his life. Ill health forced him to quit teaching when he was 91. He was a member of the First Methodist Church.

He also owned and operated a grocery store for a number of years and had been an employe of Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corp. at its Monessen tin plate plant and also the Monessen plant of Pittsburgh Steel Co.

Lower Voting Age Clears Hurdle

HARRISBURG (UP)—Legislation to lower the voting age from 21 to 18 today cleared its first hurdle in the General Assembly.

The House approved the Senate-originated proposed amendment to the state Constitution 199-1, with Rep. James K. Davis (R-Forest) casting the dissenting vote.

U. S. Completing Work on New Disarmament Proposal

WASHINGTON (UP) — The administration called a top-level huddle today to try to complete work on a new disarmament proposal calling for a "small slice" arms cut that would include missiles, ships, tanks and planes capable of carrying atomic weapons.

The tentative plan, as disclosed Thursday, provides that weapons taken out of action would be delivered to an international depot where they would be held under careful inspection.

It also calls for an aerial-ground inspection agreement with Russia on a test basis—probably in the arctic zones of both countries. The inspection would start when the arms cut took effect.

The plan, at its current stage, also provides for a worldwide agreement by nations now lacking atomic arms that they will not develop them. This would limit atomic-armed countries to the United States, Russia and Britain.

Communist China would not be included in an initial agreement as far as this country is concerned.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles was scheduled to preside over the top-level administration meeting to try to complete work on the new program so it can be presented to the five-nation disarmament meeting in London.

Harold E. Stassen, President Eisenhower's disarmament adviser who along with Dulles briefed the Senate Disarmament subcommittee on the plan Thursday and was on hand for today's meeting, plans to leave Sunday to return to the London talks which resume Monday.

The administration apparently has not reached full agreement within its own ranks on the new U.S. proposal. Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, has expressed objection to any arms-cut agreement with Russia on the ground that the Soviet Union cannot be trusted.

Other administration leaders emphasize that the U.S. plan does not involve trusting Russia. The whole point, they say, is that it would set up a careful inspection system to make sure any arms cut agreement is observed.

The dawning hope for an arms accord was seen Thursday in the

Leader Orders Inquiry Into Neff Fist Fight

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader today ordered the state Justice Department to make an on-the-spot investigation of circumstances surrounding the reported fist fight between Samuel G. Neff, Beaver County Democratic chairman and a western Pennsylvania publisher.

The altercation involved Neff, manager of the state Workmen's Insurance Fund, and James H. March, publisher of the Beaver Falls News Tribune.

Attorney General Thomas D. McBride said no further action will be taken in the matter until the inquiry is completed. He said he will name a deputy attorney general to go to Beaver Falls and question witnesses concerning the fight in a hotel last Monday.

In a letter to the governor requesting an impartial investigation, March charged that Neff struck him and spat in his face, cutting him around the eyebrow and upper lip.

March said also that when one woman present in the Hotel Broadhead cocktail bar, where the incident occurred, attempted to intervene Neff called her "the most insulting of names."

McBride said that Neff insisted that March struck the first blow and denied he deliberately insulted any woman.

Neff, according to McBride said a woman "inserted herself" in the argument and at the proper time

West Brownsville Officials Face Contempt Charges

The West Brownsville Borough Council and Burgess James Forsythe have been ordered to show cause why they should not be held in contempt of court for the forced retirement of former Chief of Police Mel Deskins.

Washington County court has set June 17 as the deadline for an answer.

The court ordered council and the burgess to reinstate Deskins as chief last Nov. 26. Council appealed to State Supreme Court which upheld the lower court April 22.

Council reinstated Deskins but retired him a short while later, citing his age of 64 as the reason.

Deskins, through his attorney, W. C. Porter of Washington, Pa., charges that the retirement is a violation of the court order. Deskins also contends the borough owes him $2,750 in salary. Council claims it only owes $141.

'57 Easter Seal Drive Over Top', Chairman Says

The 1957 Easter Seal drive in this area is over the top, it was announced today by the Westmoreland County Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

The Society acknowledge contributions of $24,527 from throughout Westmoreland County in response to the campaign conducted March 15 — April 21. The goal of the campaign was $21,000.

"This is a very gratifying response to the Easter Seal Appeal," said drive chairman Robert Rial of Greensburg.

"It will enable us to continue our work among the handicapped children and adults in local communities of the county, and it encourages us to expand our services to meet the growing need.

"Our thanks goes out", he declared, "not only to the public for its support of the work but to the scores of volunteers from all over Westmoreland County who have given time and energy to the work of the Easter Seal organization".

Rial detailed the following sources of contributions in the campaign: General mail, $12,700; special contributors, $4,400; business and industry $3,700; clubs and organizations, $1,400; tag day and coin containers, $2,300.

While the organized drive has been concluded for the year, Rial explained, contributions are still welcome and will be credited to the 1957 Easter Seal drive until a final accounting is made June 21.

Patrolman Gets 10-day Suspension From Parente

Patrolman Phillip Panepinto today was handed a 10-day suspension without pay by Mayor Hugo J. Parente.

Panepinto, the Mayor stated, was suspended for sleeping on duty and failure to make hourly reports while on the 11 p.m. to 7 a.m. shift yesterday.

Panepinto was given the suspension following a meeting with Parente and Chief of Police Michael Kuvinka.

He is to be given a public hearing at the next meeting of City Council.

Panepinto had no comment to make except that he was "feeling ill" and had fallen asleep in a car after taking an aspirin. He said he dozed off "only bout 10 minutes."

He was found asleep by Lt. Joseph Reday.

Scholarship at Elks Will Be Shared Jointly

The fourth annual Monessen Elks Lodge 773 Memorial Scholarship award was presented jointly last night to two Monessen High School seniors, Mary Katsuleris and Catherine Ann Parkinson.

The scholarship, valued at $2,000, will be shared by the two girls.

Elk officials reviewing the scholarship applications decided that both girls merited the award. They are the first girls to win the Elk scholarship.

Mary Katsuleris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Katsuleris, of 513 Ninth St., is one of this year's outstanding seniors. She is a high honor student. She is also treasurer of the Junior-Senior Class and president of the Junior Classical League.

Catherine Ann Parkinson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Parkinson, of 1173 Graham Ave. Miss Parkinson is also an outstanding senior. She is a high honor student, secretary of the Student Council, editor of the class yearbook, co-head cheerleader, Glee Club Gazette newspaper staff, broadcasting staff, vice-president of Girls Usher Club, Worthy Advisor Order of Rainbow Girls. She won the American Legion award for class excellence when she was in ninth grade.

In accepting her award, Miss Katsuleris said,

"I am very appreciative of this award. My main reason for wanting to go to college is to better my education and make something of myself. I want to be an asset

Wreck Embassy Buildings; Nine Americans Hurt

TAIPEI, Formosa (UP) — Chinese mobs wrecked the United States Embassy and other buildings, burned embassy cars and beat up at least nine Americans in a series of riots today. The Nationalist government imposed limited martial law tonight.

The rioters, inflamed over the acquittal of an American soldier by a U. S. Army court-martial for the slaying of a Chinese peeping tom, overran and wrecked even the Taipai police station.

They also smashed the offices of the United States Information Service and attempted to storm the headquarters of the U.S. Military Advisory Group.

Nationalist police stood by without acting when a few hundred persons started demonstrating in front of the embassy. But this small crowd soon swelled to a mob of about 10,000 and an orgy of violence began.

Arrest Some Rioters

Belatedly, the police moved in to stop the rioting and arrested a number of demonstrators. Their friends stormed the police station in an effort to free them.

The government tonight declared martial law in all areas where American installations and homes are located.

All Americans were advised to stay off the streets.

The Nationalist government called out hundreds of police when the rioting spread through the city and one mob tried to storm the three-story "sugar building" the main headquarters for the American military advisory group.

The Chinese army set up machineguns to protect the sugar building where hundreds of American servicemen are stationed.

Dozens of Americans were reared hurt by the mobs which roamed through the streets waving Nationalist flags and chanting anti-American slogans. The injured included embassy employes, soldiers and a Marine guard. One GI suffered severe throat cuts.

Mob Violence Begins

The mob violence began as a small demonstration in front of the U.S. Embassy against the acquittal of a U.S. Army master sergeant on voluntary manslaughter charges for the fatal shooting of a Chinese he caught peeping in the bathroom window at his nude wife.

The crowd surged out of control and the mobs stormed into the embassy, tore down the American flag, ran up the Chinese Nationalist flag and then destroyed the interior of the building. Later they tried to burn down the two-story concrete structure.

The mobs overturned embassy cars and trucks in the courtyard and set them afire. They surged through the streets and attacked all Americans they could find before descending on military headquarters. They burned cars there too.

Foreign Minister George Yeh called an emergency cabinet meeting and then went before the angry legislative Yuan (parliament) where he announced the government had officially demanded the sergeant's trial be reopened.

"I definitely will be a mayor candidate in 1961 and also council in 1959."

Traffic Deaths, Bottling Suits In Washington

The civil cases resulting from the traffic deaths of two state Liquor Control agents on Dec. 5, 1954, are being heard in Washington County before Judge David H. Weiner.

The agents, Carl Postelan and Charles Oglesby, were both killed in a collision at the intersection of Rt. 19 and McClelland Rd. Their car struck a car operated by Virginia Dami, of Huston. The latter's two sisters, Arlene and Rosalie, were passengers in her car.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Dami, parents of the girls, are plaintiffs against the estate of Postelan, alleged to have been the driver of the other car. Virginia Dami is also in the case as an additional defendant.

Judge George T. Cummins is presiding over a jury trial in which Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sethman Jr., North Belle Vernon, are asking damages from the Charleroi Coca Cola Bottling Works, alleging their daughter, Diane Lynn Sethman, was made ill by drinking Coca Cola from a bottle containing a decomposed mouse, the bottle allegedly filled, capped and distributed by the defendants.

Judge Roy L. Carson continues to hear the action in which the Tri-County Municipal Authority is the defendant, being sued for damages in connection with the construction of a reservoir near Fredricktown.

Corning Unveils New Glass Discovery

(The Independent's editor is one of the press representatives to whom Corning Glass Company has just made the first public revelation of a strategic new material. The following dispatch was sent from the research center where the new product was developed.)

By HARRY R. PORE, JR.

CORNING, N. Y. — Corning Glass Works, whose plant in Charleroi is one of the Monongahela Valley's major industries, yesterday announced development of a new material which it regards as one of the most important discoveries in the glass industry in this century.

"Pyroceram", the trade name for the new material, was introduced with some of the showmanship of a Broadway opening before an audience of 150 newspaper, magazine and technical writers gathered from all parts of the country.

"Pyroceram" is actually a whole family of materials made from glass. According to Dr. William H. Armistead, Corning research director, it is harder than steel, lighter than aluminum and nine times stronger than plate glass.

Little has been done in the way of product development with "Pyroceram", said Corning President William C. Decker in making the announcement to the press. But its eventual commercial applications are expected to be im-

Ike Refuses to Play Politics with Tax Cut

TRENTON, N.J. (UP)—President Eisenhower said today "we will not play politics with our people and blithely promise them a tax cut at the expense of our national security."

Eisenhower addressed by telephone from the capital, a regional Republican conference here. It was the sixth and final regional conference prior to a meeting of Republican leaders from all states in Washington June 7.

"Some allege that this administration is against a tax cut," Eisenhower said. "We showed our belief on this point in 1954 when we had the largest cut in history—$7,400,000,000."

"Careful planning of our budget, coupled with continued health economic growth, will result in our income materially exceeding our expenses," he said. "Then it will be possible to justify another tax cut for every taxpayer."

"But I must make this point," Eisenhower said, "we will not play politics with our people and blithely promise them a tax cut at the expense of our national security. We will not return to deficit financing. We will not stop payments on the national debt."

The President again called on Congress to permit him to veto specific items in appropriation bills instead of just having authority to veto the entire measure.

Two Republican congressmen attending the conference favored a sharp slash in the budget.

Rep. Richard M. Simpson (Pa.) and Sen. Andrew Schoeppel (Kan.) said at a news conference whittling of the budget will help win Republican at 1958 elections.

Schoeppel favored a three billion dollar cut. Simpson said he wanted a total budget reduction "in excess of four billion dollars."

Knowland Is for Budget Cut

Nixon on Side of President

WASHINGTON (UP) — Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland, unswayed by a softening among some congressmen toward President Eisenhower's budget, today stood by his statements that federal spending should be cut three billion dollars.

But Vice President Richard M Nixon, in one of his few policy speeches this year, jumped into the budget battle Thursday night with a strong defense of the administration's money requests.

The President also picked up some top level GOP support in the House on his foreign aid program. Speaker Sam Rayburn Tax, and Democratic Leader John W. McCormack already had lined up against meat-ax cuts in the program. Rayburn has predicted the house would be fairly generous in acting on the $3,865,000,000 foreign aid request.

The Fight Credited

Some congressional quarters credited Eisenhower's new all-out fight to save his budget with helping to blunt the economy drive.

In other budget developments:

—The House opened debate on the defense budget which has been trimmed $2.587.000,000 in committee. The House was expected to go along with the cuts despite Eisenhower's objections to the reduction. The vote was expected to come next week.

—The Senate Appropriations Committee summoned Army Secretary Wilber M. Brucker and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Army chief of staff, for testimony on the 36$.200.000.000 military budget Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson urged the committee Thursday to oppose the House cuts. He said they were an "unwise gamble" to take with the armed forces.

—Assistant Defense Secretary Mansfield Sprague went before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to defend the foreign aid program. Foreign aid chief John B. Hollister said Thursday the program is necessary for the United States to maintain its free world leadership.

—The House Rules Committee Thursday cleared for floor debate a bill which would result in about 420 million dollars more in foreign aid without charging up a cent to the administration's aid budget. The bill—a farm surplus disposal act under which federal surpluses are sold for foreign currencies—would charge the costs to federal farm programs.

Knowland Persistent

Knowland called again for clipping three billion dollars from the budget despite Eisenhower's downward revision of his foreign aid request by more than a half-billion dollars. Even with the lesser aid request, he said, "I think the budget still can be cut by three billion dollars."

Nixon said in New York the outlook for the administration's program in Congress has "substantially improved."

"Unless Congress decides to discontinue domestic programs it has previously approved, budget cuts as high as five to six billion dollars, which some have suggested, cannot be made unless the items for national defense are substantially reduced," he said.

But Nixon warned that the present tax level, if continued into the future, could seriously weaken the economy."

Cost of Living at New Record Level

WASHINGTON (UP)—The government reported today that a sharp increase in food prices pushed the cost of living to another new record level in April.

The rise means an automatic 2-cent hourly wage increase for 1,400,000 automotive, farmer equipment and electrical workers.

The Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said its consumer price index rose three-tenths of one per cent between March and April to 119.3 per cent of average 1947-49 prices.

It was the eighth consecutive month in which the index set a new record.

The April index was 3.8 per cent higher than a year ago.

The two-cent hourly pay increase will go to workers whose wage contracts contain escalator clauses tied to the cost of living index for April. The increase will be paid on June 1, along with an increase of at least 6 cents an hour for workers in the automobile industry as an annual improvement factor.

The BLS said that higher prices for meats and fresh fruits and vegetables were mainly responsible for the rise in consumer prices. Most other major groups of goods and services, except clothing, also registered increases, however.

BLS Commissioner Ewan Clague said the chances are that the price index will set another new record for May.

BLS reported that the average factory worker's take-home pay—earnings after federal taxes—and his buying power declined last month.

The declines were due to a seasonal shortening of the work week plus, in the case of buying power, the cost of living rise.

This was the second consecutive month in which the take-home purchasing power was less than in the same month of the previous year. There had been more than 30 months of over-the-year gains before the decline set in.

he would "disclose publicly" her reasons.

In his letter to the governor, March said, after requesting the investigation:

"I think you will find that the concensus of opinion is that a man of Mr. Neff's character is unworthy to be maintained in his present important position."

McBride said Neff told the governor and him the background of various "printed attacks" allegedly made upon Neff by March in his newspaper.

"If true, they were libelous attacks," McBride said.

The attorney general said his representative will be on the scene no later than next Monday.

McBride's comments were made following a meeting between the governor and Neff which the attorney general attended.

Asked directly if he would fire Neff from his state job, the governor said: "You can't start in on an investigation with the idea that a man is guilty or not guilty... we will have to get the facts."

first public suggestion that key senators might go to London to join in the talks if there was any sign of an agreement.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.), chairman of the Senate Disarmament subcommittee, said such a trip is a "possibility" and "desirable" if negotiations reach a point where "agreements are being entered into."

Informed sources made it clear any arms cut-inspection accord with Russia would be in the form of a treaty, requiring Senate ratification.

The administration believes present indications are that a sound accord providing for rigid inspection would win Senate approval—although possibly not without a sharp battle.

Corning

portant to the future of Corning Glass and perhaps of many of its plants, Decker said.

The first use of "Pyroceram" has been in radomes, which are the nose cones of guided missiles. These are now being produced in a small pilot plant here.

Discoverer of "Pyroceram" is Dr. S. Donald Stookey, a research chemist who celebrated his 42nd birthday yesterday.

Describing the physical properties of the new material, Dr. Armistead said it has high mechanical strength, excellent electrical insulating properties, high deformation temperatures, good heat shock resistance and great hardness.

In addition it can be shaped by any of the glass-forming techniques — pressed, drawn, blown, rolled or centrifugally cast.

Decker listed these possible uses of "Pyroceram", parts for supersonic aircraft, jet engine components and piping for chemical and oil-refining industries.

It may become a competitor of steel in the construction field.

"Its fire resistance, lightness and strength would make it desirable for curtain walls," Decker said.

Studies thus far show that "Pyroceram" will cost a little more than glass and much less than stainless steel. In answer to a question, Decker declined to speculate as to whether the new material would be manufactured in existing Corning plants or whether it would require new facilities.

"Pyroceram" could be made in almost all of our present plants," he said, "with some changes in the melting furnaces which would not be too difficult to make." But this is so new that we just have not had time for sufficient work on product development to be able to guess as to what the plant requirements are going to be."

Asked what the employment possibilities might be, Decker would say only that "considerable" more labor would be required wherever "Pyroceram" is produced.

The first commercial production, still in small quantity, is now scheduled for July, using a glass-melting furnace in the plant here in Corning.

Corning officials today will welcome delegations from the various towns where Corning plants are located. Heading the Charleroi group will be M. Marvin Hosier, plant manager, and Alex Zelenski, president of the Charleroi Chamber of Commerce. They will be entertained at dinner in the famed Glass Center tonight.

Tomorrow the company will dedicate a spectacular group of new buildings, including the nine-story administration building sheathed in glass and the new research laboratory. The buildings form a harmonious architectural grouping named Houghton Park in honor of the company's founding family Amory Houghton, Corning chairman, who is now serving as U. S. Ambassador to France and has not been present for this week's events.

County Workers For Crippled Receive Honors

Five Westmoreland County residents were today given the coveted "Brace-for-Ace" award for outstanding individual volunteer service to the Westmoreland County Society for Crippled Children and Adults and to the cause of the physically handicapped in general.

The awards, offered by the Pennsylvania Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc., were announced at the Society's annual convention in York by Abram Samuels, first vice president and for two years chairman of the Easter Seal campaign in Pennsylvania.

Westmoreland Countians receiving the award were:

Mrs. Ephraim Farber, 419 Ridgeway Ave.; Mrs. Clyde Swanson, 613 Florence St; Mrs. Malcolm Lawrence, 520 Harrison Ave; William H. Milburn, 142 East Pittsburgh St. and Mrs. Cecelia Anderson, 508 Chestnut St., all of Greensburg.

The awards are miniature gold pins with a loving cup superimposed on a leg brace. The cost of the pins was underwritten by a friend of the State Society. The recipients were nominated for the awards by the Westmoreland County Society.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek was returned to Taipei from central Formosa U.S. Ambassador Karl Rankin interrupted a Hong Kong vacation and flew back to Taipei this afternoon to face the worst anti-American outbreak since the Communist-led demonstrations on the mainland before China fell to the Reds.

Another mob attacked the two-story U.S. Information Agency building and left it a shambles, too. They broke records and tape recorders, ripped books to pieces or hurled them out windows, and smashed typewriters and other equipment.

Anti-American feeling began sweeping Formosa Thursday when a U.S. military court-martial acquitted M. Sgt. Robert G. Reynolds of Colora, Md., of involuntary manslaughter in the death of Chinese Liu Chi-Jan the night of March 20.

Reynolds found Liu peeping through the bathroom window at his wife who was drying herself off after taking a shower. Reynolds told the court-martial he fired in self defense at Liu when the Chinese came at him in the dark as if he were attacking.

The verdict angered the Chinese and throughout Thursday they cursed and jeered Americans on the streets. It was the most violent anti-American sentiment seen on Formosa. It was the first demonstration against a U.S. embassy since the Communist-led riots in Nanking before Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek fled to Formosa.

Victim's Wife Appears

Mrs. Liu, widow of the victim, appeared before the embassy this morning to stage a "hunger strike." She carried signs in Chinese and English proclaiming, "The killer Reynolds is innocent." Protest against the United States court-martial as an unfair and unjust decision."

Her actions so inflamed the crowd of 400 outside the embassy they began throwing stones, smashing the embassy windows. Hundreds of Chinese poured in from the side streets and the mob grew to thousands, shrieking their hatred of the Americans.

The disturbance also centered on a street in front of President Ralph W. McDonald's home, where students burned an effigy of him in apparent protest of the drinking ban penalties.

Dr. McDonald said two fraternities had violated the university's liquor regulations at two social functions. He said a ruling was scheduled to be handed down today.

Asked To Disclose Names

The two fraternities, Delta Tau Delta and Sigma Chi, had been asked to turn over to university authorities the names of students involved in the drinking.

The mob formed, witnesses said, in front of the Delta Tau Delta house and then moved to different sections of the campus. The group reportedly tried to break into a sorority house but was blocked when police arrived on the scene.

Bowling Green Ban on Drinking Stirs Riot

BOWLING GREEN, O. (UP) — A riot involving some 1,500 to 2,000 students at Bowling Green State University broke out early today in a protest over the university's regulations against drinking.

The milling and yelling students built a bon fire in the middle of U. S. 6 that runs past the university, tying up traffic about two or three blocks each way.

Sheriff's deputies arrested two students and held them on open charges. They were identified as Bruce Duenoiz 19, and Bill Carmany, 20. Carmany's hometown was listed as Bedford, Ohio.

Police, armed with tear gas guns, formed a line in front of the Wood County Jail to block about 700 students who threatened to wreck the jail in an attempt to free the two students placed behind bars.

Band-Orchestra in First Annual Banquet

Robert Arthur, director of the famed Pitt University Marching Band, pointed out the "opportunities available in college to music participatants" at the first annual banquet of the Monessen High Band-Orchestra Parents Association last night in the Slovak Home.

Arthur was the main speaker at the affair, staged in honor of the MHS band and orchestra.

More than 150 persons listened to Arthur's remarks, then watched films of the Pitt band in action. Offering a commentary was William Svec, head drum major of the band.

A highlight of the evening was the presentation of achievement awards to Bill Lear of the band and Rosalie Martucci of the orchestra. Those two students are presidents of their respective organization and they both responded with remarks.

The awards were made by Julius D'Alfonso, band director.

Dr. Joseph Pallone, superintendent of Monessen public schools, served as toastmaster. He was introduced by Mrs. Michael Kunsa president of the Band-Orchestra Parents Association.

John Lancas, president of the School Board, offered the invocation, then followed with remarks a little later in the program.

Both D'Alfonso and Paul Passoja, of the MHS faculty, were presented gifts by their students.

Introduced were these officers of the Band-Orchestra Parents Association: Mrs. Kunsa, president; Mrs. Harry Fairly, vice-president; Mrs. Alvin Roberts, acting secretary and Arvo Isaho, treasurer. Mrs. Einar Ruokonen, the secretary, was unable to attend.

Also introduced were senior high principal Henry Furio and his wife; junior high principal Alfred Hazelbaker and his wife and music instructor Joseph Petaccia and his wife.

Minature musical instruments were given as favors while each table was decorated with floral centerpieces and tall yellow candles.

Students winning prizes included Don Mamansky, Marian Bachinsky, Don Dustolfo, Judy Epstein, Roger Durante and Melba Jean Isaho.

The banquet committee included Mrs. Michael Bucar, Mrs. Roland Waite, Mrs. Alvin Roberts and Mrs. John Wanzilak.

Dancing followed the speaking program.

State to Study Physical Fitness Of School Kids

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Joint State Government Commission was authorized today to begin a study of how to improve the physical fitness of Pennsylvania school children who have been weakened by "excessive use of automobiles, buses and television."

A resolution sponsored by Sen. J. Irving Whalley (R-Somerset) and unanimously adopted by the state Senate Thursday said studies revealed the percentage of American youths "physically unfit with respect to muscular strength and flexibility" is between 34 and 49 per cent higher than in European countries.

"This condition has been brought about to a great extent by indulgent parents, unwillingness of children to participate in exercise, and excessive use of automobiles, buses and television," the measure said.

The resolution said public schools are "ideal places for carrying out a program of rehabilitating physically unfit youths" with drills, calesthenics and exercises and directed the JSGC to study the problems of physical fitness and prepare remedial legislation for the next session of the Legislature.

Is Fined $10,000

Benny Hooper Is Leaving Hospital

MANORVILLE, N.Y. (UP)—Seven-year-old Benny Hooper, who survived 23 hours in the bottom of a well shaft, goes home today, almost completely recovered from his terrifying ordeal.

Although somewhat wobbly from his experience and si-day hospital stay, the sandy - haired youngster was reported well on the road to recovery by Dr. Joseph Kris, who has attended him since his rescue last Friday night. It will be at least another 10 days, however, before Benny will be permitted to return to school—something he said Thursday he was anxious to do.

Reservations must be made by May 30.

New Premier in France Expected

PARIS (UP)— President Rene Coty was expected to nominate a premier today — France's 23rd since World War II.

Political observers expected him to call on former Premier Rene Pleven, 56-year-old head of the Central Resistance Party, to succeed Socialist Guy Mollet. Mollet fell Tuesday night when he requested a giant tax increase to finance the costly Algerian war.

These people each won $1,000 VACATION from their Ford Dealer

Urges Vets to Remain Strong

LaRiccia Honored At Fete

A plea for members of veterans groups to remain strong was made here last night by a Pennsylvania Veterans of Foreign Wars official at the annual past post commander's banquet held by Allison-Lescanac Post 1190, VFW.

William Tepsic, of Brentwood, who is senior vice commander of the state veterans organization and who will be elected to the commandership this summer, criticized those who would have the veteran stop "waving the flag."

"The veteran should be glad to wave the flag," Tepsic said, "because by so doing he represents the freedom loving peoples of the world and shows respect for those comrades who died trying to preserve that freedom."

He warned veterans groups to beware of those individuals and organizations in the world who would pit the veteran against those who did not serve.

'Stand Strong'

"This is their way to drive a wedge between those who did and those who did not serve in the armed forces," Tepsic added.

"The veterans must stand strong," he concluded.

The immediate past commander of Post 1190, Vincent LaRiccia, wa singly honored by present commander John Hurrianko with a past commander's lapel emblem and a ring.

LaRiccia thanked all those who helped him during his reign and hoped that all those who helped him will continue to give cooperation to Hurrianko.

Other past commanders who were introduced included:

Art Marino, Philip Columbus, Walter Kwolek, George Berkowitz, Elliott Bianchi and Paul Komar. William Snyder represented his father, Alex Snyder, who could not be present, he being hospitalized in Oakland Veterans Hospital.

Past commanders, also honored but not present were: Miller Todd, Joseph Lescanac, Charlie Williams, Richard Crosby, Tom Conti, Joseph Putnak Sr., H. J. Maxwell and John Higgins.

Officers Introduced

George Cieply, secretary of the Monessen Chamber of Commerce and a former Post 1190 officer, was toastmaster and introduced present officers of the Post as well as several guests. Among them were Charles Anthony, of Manor, Westmoreland County VFW Council commander.

Rev. Mathias Joensuu, pastor of St. Luke's Evangelical Lutheran Church, gave the invocation and benediction.

Officers introduced included:

Kwolek, senior vice commander; Socrates Loulis, junior vice commander; Richard Pustelak, quartermaster; Komar, chaplain; LaRiccia, judge advocate; R. Mitchell Steen Jr., adjutant; Edwin Melenyzer, service officer; Lawrence T. Doyle, public relations officer; Frederic Feldman, athletic officer and Frank Kurdilla, Charles Penwick and Michael Smertka Jr., trustees.

Nellie Kuseck, president of the Ladies Auxiliary; Mrs. LaRiccia, Mrs. Hurrianko and Mrs. Tepsic, were also introduced.

A ham dinner was served by members of the Auxiliary.

Banquet committee members included Bianchi, chairman; Komar, Berkowitz and Columbus.

Stevenson Wants Travel Rules Eased

LONDON (UP)—Support from former Democratic presidential candidate Adlai Stevenson lent weight today to demands that Britain relax restrictions on travel to the United States. Stevenson, here to accept an honorary degree from Oxford University, told a news conference it would be "enormously helpful" if Britain eased the strict currency regulations which keep the flow of British visitors to the United States down to a comparative trickle.

State Democrat Threatens to Filibuster to Halt GOP Cuts

HARRISBURG (UP) — A Democratic senator today posed the threat of a filibuster because of slashes by the Republican leadership in the funds to operate state hospitals.

Sen. Joseph J. Yosko (D-Northampton) demanded the Senate Appropriations Committee hold public hearings when the appropriation bills reach that chamber. He said he was particularly concerned with the 17 million dollars cut from the administration budget for state hospitals.

"We haven't had a filibuster yet this session," Yosko said. "But we are going to have one if the directors and superintendents of our state hospitals aren't given a hearing on their needs."

Meanwhile, in the House, 63 money bills, including the General Appropriation Bill, were sent to the floor for final action expected early next week.

The general appropriation measure totaled $1,107,307,466. Among the other big appropriation bills were $144,600,000 for public assistance; 24 million dollars for state-aided hospitals and $27,713,400 for operation of Pennsylvania State University.

The appropriations for state aided colleges and universities included:

University of Pennsylvania, $5,482,620; School of Medicine, $2,012,000; School of Veterinary Medicine, $918,500; Temple University $3,837,834; Temple School of Medicine, $2,070,000; University of Pittsburgh, $4,737,546.

The appropriation bills which reached the floor Thursday totaled $1,385,323,031.

The House GOP leaders decided to give their proposal for an increase in school subsidies another whirl after boosting them by $1,000,000 to $31,300,000. The subsidy bill was returned to the floor by the House Appropriation Committee. Strong opposition from big-city delegations marked their recommittal last week.

Charge Added Costs

Philadelphia and Pittsburgh officials contended the subsidy bills would increase their school costs by 27 million dollars in the next five years. Sponsors of the measure, which was amended in committee, contend the cost to the two cities will be even more under the latest changes.

In addition to the opposition from Philadelphia and Pittsburgh lawmakers, the GOP House leadership has the additional problem of determining how to finance the one million dollars by which the subsidies were increased. The Republican budget outlined earlier this week allowed for only 30 million dollars.

"We'll squeeze it in somewhere," House Majority Leader Albert W. Johnson (R-McKean) said.

House GOP leaders plan no changes in appropriation amounts before the bills are cleared to the Senate. Their timetable calls for final passage of the appropriation measures next Tuesday. The Senate in all probability will make some wholesale changes in the appropriation measures with the possibility such bills will wind up in a conference committee for compromise.

Other House action saw the defeat of legislation to increase the automobile speed limit in Pennsylvania from the present 50 to 55 miles an hour. The proposal drew 91 favorable votes but failed of the required constitutional majority by a vote of 91-89.

Jury to Get Case Of Ex-Tax Collector

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The trial of Stephen C. Pastrick, former Harrison Township tax collector charged with embezzling $67,000 in tax funds, goes to a Criminal Court jury today.

The jury of four men and eight women was to receive the case after a charge by Judge Morgan A. Sohn, visiting judge from Beaver County.

Thursday, Pastrick took the stand and cried as he denied he embezzled the money.

He put the blame on Mrs. Betty Liotta, 31, his former chief clerk, who was acquitted April 2 of charges she aided in the alleged embezzlement.

"She was always a smooth talker," he testified. "When I became suspicious once, she convinced me that everything was okay."

Pastrick said no discrepancies had been found in his books in annual audits during his 12 years in office, beginning in 1942. He said it was after he left that the shortages were discovered.

He also said Mrs. Liotta often stalled when her books were called for by the township auditors.

Pastrick said his suspicions were aroused when he went to his office one evening and found the safe door unlocked. Inside was a bag with $2,500, he said.

He said he took the money to his bank for safekeeping and later returned it to the tax accounts. He said he asked Mrs. Liotta about the money in the safe but she assured him it was merely an oversight.

Pastrick was followed to the stand by seven character witnesses.

State Police Facing Radical Changes in Policies and Methods

HARRISBURG (UP) — The General Assembly today considered a proposed study of the morale and efficiency of the state police force with a view to revamping its personnel policies and introducing "new and radical" equipment and law enforcement methods.

A resolution introduced Thursday by Republican Sens. Robert D. Fleming (Allegheny) and Thomas A. Ehrgood (Lebanon) said "the state police force is now faced with a problem of morale and efficiency" as the result of its promotion and retirement policies, and that "no new and radical changes in equipment and law enforcement have been made available" to officers.

The resolution noted that state police cars are not equipped to "cope with speeders and 'cowboys'," and they do not have tear gas, handcuffs and other equipment.

It also pointed out that Pennsylvania state police do not have helicopters, which are used in many other states to handle traffic congestion and to make searches.

In addition, the resolution said to improve operation of the force "the matter of incentive to those members of the organization who all too frequently serve without any promotion or chance of promotion is a matter of great concern."

"This is particularly true concerning married members of the force," it said.

Cites Retirement Policies

The measure pointed out that although provisions are made for retirement of troopers at the age of 50, "there is no compulsory retirement and it is generally recognized that the police officer for the most efficient service must have sufficient energy and adaptibility to do an efficient job."

The resolution said that the 1,900 complement of the force "bears no relation to the increase in traffic and population and the increased crime that is present in the present day and age."

The Joint State Government Commission, the investigating arm of the Legislature, would be directed to make a comprehensive study of the problems cited.

State Police Commissioner E.J. Henry said he welcomed the study which he said he felt "would not be critical" but aimed at providing legislation to improve police equipment and operations.

However, Col. Henry said "it seems a little inconsistent that they want all these things and yet they cut my appropriation."

The GOP budget cut 250 thousand dollars from the seven million dollars requested by the department for the next biennium.

"That's a little hard to understand," Henry said.

Bowling League Holds Banquet To End Season

The annual banquet for the G. A. P. A. Bowling League was held last night at the Ankara for 58 members and guests.

George Peters was toastmaster and invocation was by Peter Drush, who along with his wife, was a guest.

Highlighting the evening was the presentation of awards. Paul Ciccarelli received the high average and high triple and John Apodiakos, high single.

The large trophy will be held at the lodge rooms for the first half winners, the Irish and the second half winners, the Bulldogs. On the Irish team are Alex Papantonakis, Tony Stupakils, Kass Koutsouradis, Ted Mermigas, John Klidas, Bob Wotkowski, Forrest Loulis, Bob Martin and Conrad Ranallo, captain.

The Bulldogs include George Mermigas, captain, John Apodiakos, Ted Apodiakos, Jim Peters, Demo Kafkalas, John Klidas and Bob Wotkowski.

The captains, Ranallo, Mermigas, Gus Manos and George Peters introduced the team members.

Wives and friends of the members were guests and were presented with traveling clocks.

In charge o fthe affair were Forrest Loulis, Ted Mermigas, George Mermigas, John Apodiakos and Gus Manos.

Valley Bridge Club Tourney

There were 10 tables in play last night when the Magic City Bridge Club met at the Charleroi Elks.

Winning high score north-south awards were Mrs. Harry L. Glick and B. G. Perkins, of Pittsburgh, first and Mrs. H. D. Stahl, of Eighty Four and Mrs. Joseph H. Carazola, of Canonsburg.

East-west winners were Harry O. Shockey, of Uniontown and George Summers, of Brownsville, first and E. J. Feeney, of Brookline and Mrs. Walter L. Lofink, of Mt. Lebanon, second.

There will be a game next Thursday night.

The Budget Should Be Less Complex

WE EARNESTLY hope that the President's efforts to win acceptance for his budget will somehow bring about a simplification of the budget itself and the procedure by which it is made.

The President has appealed directly to the people via radio and television for their support against a congressional effort to cut the budget substantially. The President is unquestionably sincere in his statements that the budget represents a sound appraisal of what it costs to keep us safe and prosperous in these times. On the other hand some economy-minded congressmen are perhaps just as sincere in feeling an adequate job can be done on a smaller budget.

Proponents on both sides must have found it an almost impossible task to make the budget intelligible to the average citizen. If a person can't begin to understand the budget how can he have a valid judgment about it, how can he offer a helpful opinion to his representative or to the President?

Former President Herbert Hoover, that durable gentleman who knows perhaps more about the functions of government than any other living American, has put the problem in its simplest terms. He has said that our federal budgeting and accounting just is not adapted to today's enormous expenditures. We are at a stage when no one can tell what the actual expenditures of the government really are. This is fundamental data in any budget-making process and without it the budget loses its touchstone of reality.

* * *

CONGRESS, while it has a hand in budget responsibility and while it has the full burden of responsibility for appropriations, is in an extremely awkward situation under today's conditions. It votes for or against bills as they come along, on a piecemeal basis, not as part of a cohesive over-all program. Then, to further impair control of the budget, Congress has adopted the habit of approving major spending programs covering periods of years. Thus, each year the money the government spends includes a large proportion of "carry-over" funds voted in past sessions. Only a small part of the budget is subject to really total control.

The size of the government operation requires some drastic changes in budgeting and accounting methods. If this is going to continue to be a government of the people it's got to be kept within the understanding of the people.

If the President and the Congress have found it tough going explaining their respective stands on the budget it's not much wonder. Either of them could make a substantial contribution by insisting on simplification.

Voting By Machine

ONE OBVIOUS conclusion to be drawn from last Tuesday's primary election locally is that a great many people have a great deal to learn about voting machines.

The dopesters are quick to explain how some of the winners won and the losers lost because of their respective positions on the voting machine. These explanations can be made to sound plausible, but of course there can never be anything in the way of proof.

There are however statements of many voters that they were confused, that in some cases they did not vote because of this confusion or they learned later they had cast a vote in error for the wrong candidate. This was Monessen's first experience with voting machines in a primary election, and inexperience evidently showed up in some of the totals.

As a further complication, election officials in some precincts showed a pitiable ignorance about their job. Thorough instructions either were not provided or were not understood. Write-in votes, which may assume tremendous importance in view of the complete lack of local Republican candidates, were so sloppily handled that none of the nominations in this party can be determined before an official tabulation is made at a later date.

The purity of an election is the ultimate responsibility of the county commissioners. Failure of the general public to understand the mechanics of voting or failure of election officials to be precise and expert in their handling of the votes calls for attention. The commissioners ought to apply themselves to the problem with imagination and vigor, and they ought to get busy on it now.

Friend of ours sees plenty of significance in the fact that a candidate will take a half-page ad to ask you for your vote and use a three-line reader notice to thank you for it.

Merry-Go-Round—

Soviet Laughs At Economies In the Senate

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The Kremlin must be having a lot of fun watching the antics of the U. S. Senate these days.

Last week the Senate spent almost one whole day harassing and curtailing the U. S. Information Agency which combats Russian propaganda.

Mr. Pearson

Simultaneously, the Kremlin was doing the following:

1. Staging another world peace conference at Colombo, Ceylon next month.

2. Sending mobile exhibits of Hiroshima victims around India and Southeast Asia to show the horrors of U. S. atomic wars.

3. Preparing for the 6th World Youth Festival in Moscow in July which big delegations of young Africans will attend — expenses paid by Moscow.

4. Filling the airwaves with charges that the USA is preparing for aggressive atomic war.

5. Spending $125,000,000 on documentary films alone as against the total U. S. information budget voted by the Senate of $89,000,000.

The cut which the Senate voted in U. S. information funds was $15,000,000. A few days later here is what the Senate voted for others:

Voted a $30,000 subsidy to give cheap lunches to Senators.

Voted a $100,000,000 indirect subsidy to bankers by giving them government deposits interest-free.

Voted a $30,000,000 subsidy for western miners and mining companies.

Voted various public works which will help individual Senators get re-elected but won't help wage the cold war against the Kremlin.

If the Kremlin isn't laughing, it just hasn't got a sense of humor.

Razor vs Meat-ax

Most conscientious economizer in Congress is Sen. Paul Douglas of Illinois, the former economics professor at the University of Chicago who enlisted in the Marine Corps as a private a tthe age of 50. Douglas economizes with a razor, not with a meat-ax. Here is part of his record.

"My purpose in rising is to help keep Secretary Humphrey's hair from curling," he said, as the Senate voted on a 7 per cent increase for the personal staff of the Secretary of the Treasury who wanted the budget cut. "There is no better place to do that than right in his own office."

The Senate, however, overruled Douglas.

"I propose cutting $2,000,000 from the 1958 funds requested for Coast Guard facilities," continued the persistent Illinois Democrat.

Douglas's fellow Senators did not agree. They preferred to keep pork in the budget. Sen. A. Willis Robertson (D., Va.) protested that his state needed a new Coast Guard lighthouse station. Charles Potter (R., Mich.) insisted on new Coast Guard barracks at Sault Ste. Marie.

The Senator from Illinois next shifted to a hidden $100,000,000 bank subsidy in the Treasury budget, proposed that at least $10,000,000 be knocked out.

"The amendment which I have offered would reduce . . . a hidden subsidy which the Treasury now pays to the banks by making huge deposits of public funds without receiving an interest payment in return," Douglas declared.

"The banks are able to increase their earnings approximately $100 million a year by these interest-free deposits," said Douglas.

He demanded that they pay 2 per cent. He was overruled.

Douglas next exposed an esumated $185,000,000 in Post Office subsidies to the railroads, for hauling parcel post and surplus baggage-car space for mail.

"This," said Douglas, "is a test of whether power and wealth are going to remain in the saddle, or whether government activity is to be carried on in the interest of the public who now pay these absurd and illegal overcharges through excessive mail rates or through taxes."

Ambassador Ricardo Arias of Panama — I appreciate your advice pointing out that the United States did not buy the Panama Canal Zone, but rather that Panama granted the Canal Zone to the United States. Thus, you point out, the United States could not sell or even lease the Canal Zone, as if it was the actual owner, nor could it use the Canal Zone for any purpose other than the maintenance and protection of the canal. Thanks also for the assurance that Panama will never be a prey to Russian propaganda and fall for Nasserism . . . CORRECTION: Friends of Sen. Lyndon Johnson have suggested that I was unfair to him in reporting that he deliberately stayed out of Washington during the recent Democratic Dinner, thereby boycotting the Truman-Stevenson wing of the Democratic party. Lyndon's friends point out that he had not known about the dinner until March by which time he had accepted two conflicting engagements in Texas that he could not break. However, he purchased one table of ten $100 tickets or $1,000; also he spent well, with his staff, a total of 250 tickets.

Behind the Budget Fight

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Have no doubt about it, there is more going on behind the scenes than on the stage in this Battle of the Budget.

The undeclared stakes in the Battle of the Budget are very high.

When you look beneath the surface of this oddly massed onslaught against the President, you find two powerful reasons why, no matter which way he turns for support, Mr. Eisenhower finds more lined up against him than for him.

Mr. Drummond

The two reasons are these:

1. Here was the ready-made opportunity for the un-Eisenhower right-wing Republicans to try to pry the President's leadership and label off the Republican party and to get set to take things into their own hands for 1958 and 1960.

2. Here was the irresistible opportunity for the Democrats, yearning for an anti-Eisenhower issue, to seize the unaccustomed mantle of economy as their very own and to get ready to wear it for a time, however poorly it might fit, as the 1958 Congressional election approaches.

What Mr. Eisenhower now finds arrayed against him are not just those who sincerely believe that cutting the budget radically is the first objective of national policy, but a two-party coalition of political opponents who are out to defeat him for different reasons, and who are out to defeat each other after they have reduced the President.

Wrong Battle

This is why the careful arguments which Mr. Eisenhower advances in his broadcasts and his press conferences amke about as much impression on Congress as a kitten breathing on the door of a bank vault.

This is why it is accurate to say that in effect the President is fighting the wrong battle on the wrong ground with the wrong weapons.

This appears to be a battle over the merits of the President's budget.

It has gone far beyond that. It is a battle, using the politically easy target of the budget, through which the un-Eisenhower right-wing Republicans aim to acquire control of the party and through which the anti-Eisenhower Democrats aim to ride into office over a divided opposition.

It may work.

The Republican opponents of President Eisenhower are helping the Democrats.

How are they helping? The key fact is this: the majority of the Democratic members of Congress would not, I am confident, dare stand en bloc against the President on the budget issue if he were not being deserted by the majority of his own party.

What Congress is doing to the United States Information Agency this year, compared with what it did for the information services during the last two years of the Truman administration, shows what this coalition is up to.

This year the House slashed the White House U.S.I.A. request $38 million and the Senate reduced it another $16 million. Thus the U.S.I.A. is asked to wage its battles against Communist propaganda on a budget of $90 million.

Party Strategy

But during the last two years of the Truman administration the Democratic Congress, with the aid of Republican votes, gave the overseas information services $148 million for 1952 and $113 million for 1953.

The Senate Republicans voted 23-to-14 against the President on the U.S.I.A. and the Senate Democrats voted — mark it well — 38-to-0-against the President on the U.S.I.A.

When a party votes unanimously, for all practical purposes, against the President, there is a party purpose and a party strategy behind it.

I am not putting special blame on the Democrats for embracing the juicy political opportunity plunked in their laps by the Republicans. The Republicans started cutting the U.S.I.A. to pieces when they controlled Congress in 1953. You can't expect the Democrats to feel a great urge and duty to back the President — even when he is asking for less than they were willing to give a Democratic President — when the President's own party leads the way against him.

This is a political batle for the largest stakes.

At this stage it seems to me that the Republican opponents of the President are playing right into the hands of the enemy. And the Democrats are pleased and busy; but not busy finding ways to help the Republicans.

The Lighter Side—

Past Masters of Slang

By DOC QUIGG

NEW YORK (UP)—When better slang is built, the British, of course, will build it, and if you don't use your loaf in reading this item I'll bet half an Oxford it won't make 18 pence.

One of the glories of England for lo, these many years has been cockney rhyming slang, a speech form that seems to have escaped Americans entirely. But now the British Travel Association has busted forth with full-page magazine advertisements on the subject, which should put it in the American public domain.

So—I hurried over to Stanley Holloway, the dialect expert who can belt out a British music hall ballad so superbly that the stops the show at least twice a night at "My Fair Lady," and asked him to rattle off a bit of explanation. O.K. guvnor.

"I'm feeling reels," he began. "That means I'm feeling rotten. Get it? Reels is the first word of 'reels-of-cotton' which is a phrase that rhymes with rotten."

The idea is to substitute a rhyming phrase for any familiar word, and these phrases are standardized. Head becomes loaf-of-bread. But the cockneys often drop off all but the first word, so that the thing doesn't make rhyme — or reason, either, unless you know the slang.

Hence, in the first sentence of this column, loaf means head, Oxford means dollar (Oxford-scholar is the whole rhyme), and 18 pence is the rhyme for sense.

Inspired anatomically by "loaf," Holloway rattled off the following cockney translations: Eyes—mince pies; nose—I suppose; mouth—north and south; neck—bushel and peck; arms—chalk farms (a London suburb); belly—darby kelly; legs—clothes pegs; feet—plates of meat.

Asked to talk a bit of this, he went me one better and launched into verse, an old stage rhyme to which I have added parenthetical translations:

"I was sitting in front of the anna maria (fire)

"A-warming me plates o' meat (feet)

"When I hears a knock at the roary o' moore (door)

"Which makes me raspberry beat, (heart — from raspberry tart)

"So I set down me glass of finger-and-fumb (rum)

"Which I held in me German band (hand)

"And I went to the head of the apples-and-pears (stairs)

"With me dukes all ready to land. . ."

Not For All Britons

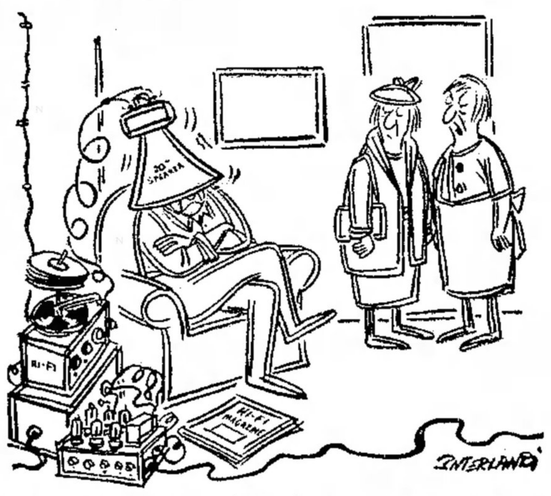
The foregoing should give you an idea of the charm of the thing, although Holloway says the lifted-pinky set in England has for centuries professed shock at such slangy goings-on. Holloway sometimes tizzies American show people backstage with such cockneyisms as "I'll do a ding." Ding is the short form for ding-dong-and-isle - of - France which, as every cockney knows, is slang for song-and-dance.

If you want to improve your vocabulary, here's a short list:

Rain—France and Spain; money—the bees (bees and honey); bank—formerly steam tank, now J. Arthur Rank; pub—rub-a-dub or iron cruiser (for the boozer); hair — bonnet fair; boots—daisy roots; socks—almost rocks; sister—skin and blister; brother—one and tother; father—old pot and pan (old man); missus—cheese and kisses; kids—god forbids.

Maybe you've got enough to try a few sentences of your own. But don't run amuck with it. If you're a married man, I would particularly advise against taking it home and trying it on your trouble-and-strife.

The Cynic's Corner—



"It's the only way I can keep him from blasting me out of the house with that gal-danged hi-fi set!"

The Woman's View—

Graduates' Heads Are Getting Much Bigger

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UP)—June graduates' heads are getting bigger.

The nation's cap and gown industry reports this trend, without speculating whether the cause is cramming on food full of vitamins, or on food for thought.

Graduates also are taller, on the average.

Gay Pauley

"Matter of fact, we find the graduates are spreading both ways," reported one cap and gown manufacturer who didn't want his name used.

"This seems to apply to both boys and girls," he continued. "We now frequently measure gowns for high school seniors—boys—who are six feet three and four."

"Rare Sizes Common

"A cap size of 7½ oh 7 used to be a rarity . . . now both are commonplace," said H. B. Rudnick, vice president of Cox Sons and Vining, Inc., a 120-year-old firm.

The industry, which is moving into its peak season, reported more variety in color and fabrics in commencement attire. Otherwise, little change in the traditional robe, whose ancestry can be traced to Medieval times.

"Academic people are conservative people," said Rudnick. "If anything, the college traditions are getting more so."

"About the only modernization I can think of is in the addition of the zipper instead of hook-and-eye closing," said Mrs. Catherine Ciraci, of the New York office of the Collegiate Cap and Gown Co.

Black remains a "must" for collegians, with a couple of exceptions. Rudnick said men receiving a doctorate at Yale may wear Yale blue, those receiving a doctorate at Harvard may wear the Harvard crimson.

It is at the high school level where such shades as royal, navy and powder blue, gray, maroon and white have moved in on the black, said Mrs. Ciraci.

Powder blue is a particular favorite with girls' school graduates.

One firm said it has added old gold to its line, by popular demand.

Synthetic Fibers Used

Fabrics are lighter in weight, with nylon, chromspun, poplin and some new silks replacing wool and heavy cotton.

Graduates may rent or buy their commencement robes. The companies start taking orders as early as December for June graduations—and during a peak rental season, a cap and gown is worn at least three times—returned each time to the company for cleaning.

"We use everything from a truck to air express to get the gowns to the schools," said Rudnick.

One company said once during an express company strike, it bought coach seat tickets on a train, stacked boxes of caps and gowns on the seats, and had them at their destination in time for commencement.

Behind The News—

Adenauer Is Worried Over U. S.-Soviet Deal

By CHARLES M. MCCANN

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's visit to Washington next week promises to result in some important agreements on Allied relations with Russia.

Adenauer, as the leader of West Germany, has been pretty worried over some developments of the last few months.

These include Great Britain's revolutionary new defense policy, which involves drastic cuts in military manpower, and the possibility that the United States may do some cutting of its own.

But Adenauer's biggest worry is that the United States, in its eagerness for a disarmament treaty, may make a deal with Russia at Germany's expense.

There was a sensation in Bonn, Adenauer's capital, last week when the Washington correspondents of two responsible West German newspapers reported the United States planned to sponsor a proposal which would put off any hope of German unification for an indefinite period.

Demilitarization Reported

According to this report, Harold Stassen, President Eisenhower's special disarmament aide, had drawn up a plan for a big demilitarized zone in Central Europe. The plan was supposed to have the approval of the United States and British governments.

The zone plan, according to the German correspondents, would involve the acceptance by the Western Allies of the continued partition of Germany.

Denials of the report came quickly from Washington and from American embassies in Western European capitals.

Adenauer was attending the annual congress of his Christian Democratic Party in Hamburg at the time. He was naturally alarmed.

Officially, the denials quieted Adenauer's fears. He told the party congress he was convinced the "deal" reports were completely false.

But there are strong indications that Adenauer is still worried.

Adenauer is due to arrive in New York by plane Friday. After spending the weekend there, he is to go to Washington Monday for three days of talks with Eisenhower, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and other high officials.

Wants Guarantees

He is fairly certain to ask for firm guarantees that Germany will not be sacrificed in any agreements which the United States, Britain and France may make with Russia.

He is likely to sound out Eisenhower and Dulles on the possibility of a Big Four "summit" conference at which Eisenhower would meet Soviet Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin, British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and anybody who happens to be premier of France at the time.

Adenauer naturally will want to be assured that Germany's interests will be protected fully at any Big Four meeting as well as in the current United Nations disarmament meeting in London.

To him, and to all Germans, the issue of their country's unification is the biggest one. He is aware also that, as a member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, West Germany would be in the front line in event of war with Russia.

Presbyterian Guild Plans Activities

The May meeting of the Presbyterian Guild of the First Presbyterian Church was held on Wednesday evening in the church parlors and was devoted to plans for various activities in which the women will participate. A program was also presented.

Mrs. Walter Gemmill, president, was in charge and in the absence of Mrs. W. Barton Waite, who was to have been devotional leader, the devotions were conducted by Mrs. Olive Travis. The program theme was "Plenty and Want" and the study included the directions given by Jesus for people in handling the problem of poverty and misery in the world.

The devotional program closed with the group singing of "Now I Hear My Savior Calling".

Retreat Set

Announcement was made of a retreat to be held on July 12 at the Mt. Vernon Church near McKeesport. Mrs. Marcella Sehman explained how the summer offering taken at this time is used. Each member of the Guild received an envelope in which to place a contribution to this offering and these envelopes are to be returned at the June meeting.

It was also announced that Miss Emelie Clark, a Presbyterian missionary to Ganado, Arizona, is hospitalized.

On Wednesday, June 19, at 2 p. m. there will be a missionary tea held in the local church. The speaker will be Miss Rena Westra, a missionary in Thailand.

Mrs. Paul Frazitta was the topic leader and gave a talk on "Thailand". She also displayed many articles from that country.

Mrs. Agnes Stockus gave "Missions in the News". Her article dealt with Dr. Albert Schweitzer's hospital in Africa and the work done there even though there is the handicap of lack of modern facilities.

A prayer for missions concluded the program and then members of Circle Two served refreshments.

Cecelia Dacko, Bride-elect of Daniel J. Pysh

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dacko, of Shepler Hill, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Cecelia, to Daniel J. Pysh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wasyl Pysh, of Ridge Ave., Carnegie.

Miss Dacko was graduated from Rostraver Township High School in 1952 and from the Mercy Hospital School of Nursing, Pittsburgh, in 1955. She is presently employed as a registered nurse at Mercy Hospital.

Mr. Pysh was graduated with the 1946 class from Carnegie High School, served six and a half years in the U. S. Air Force and is presently employed in the purchasing department of Salem-Brosius Inc. of Carnegie. He is also national president of the Ukrainian Orthodox League, a young peoples organization of the Ukrainian Orthodox Church.

Wedding plans are not definite.

Surprise Shower In Honor of Mrs. Richard

A surprise stork shower was held by the women of the Young Adult class of the First Presbyterian Church on Tuesday evening in honor of Mrs. Abner P. Richard, Jr. The party was held at the home of Betty Junk, on Chestnut St.

Miss Mon-Valley Pageant To Be Followed by Ball

The Monessen Junior Women's Club has announced that a ball in honor of Miss Mon-Valley will follow the pageant to be held on June 12, at Twin Coaches.

The club decided to dispense with the annual Lilac Ball in order to take on this additional activity, but the club members have extended an invitation to all valley dancers accustomed to attending the ball to be present for the reception. One ticket will be sold to cover the cost of admission to the pageant, the floor show at the Coaches and the dance.

George Shearing and his quintet will be appearing in the floor show along with a complete list of entertainers. Frankie Barr's orchestra will provide music for dancing. Tickets may be obtained from any club member or from any of the merchants displaying posters.

New Contestant

Contestants are continuing to enter the competition and the latest to submit her entry is Alice Steinmiller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Steinmiller, of 917 Graham St., Belle Vernon, who is employed at Stern's Furniture Co.

Miss Steinmiller is a graduate of Bellmar High School and would like to attend Airline School. Her talent is singing and for "recreation" she likes to cook, listen to Frankie Laine records, go to church and watch baseball games.

Mrs. John R. McGovern is continuing to receive entries for the valley competition and many awards have been collected from valley merchants to present to the winning contestant.

Plans for the staging of the pageant in a high standard, which must meet with the Miss America pageant rules are also underway and the list of judges will soon be announced.

The Pittsburgh Pirates have booked two tryout camps at Charleroi on June 13-14 and at New Brigton June 17-18

The left-handed power-hitters of the Monessen Ozarks — Bob Mastracci and Ron Danko — have missed three games this season. And the Ozarks have lost all of them . . . Rudy Polaski, the basketball official from Monongahela, is off to a great start with his hometown team in the Tri-County Softball League. Now in his forties, Rudy "retired" years ago, but couldn't stay away any longer . . . Incidentally the Tri-County League is off to a good start. Ted Nicholls, of Pricedale, organized the circuit which includes teams from Westmoreland, Fayette and Washington counties.

Kurey Could Be Great Star

Joe Kurey, Monessen High's junior athlete, figures to develop into an outstanding tennis player if he overcomes a tendency to rattle. An exceptionally talented student, Joe needs only a little more confidence to become a great net star. His co-partner in the championship WPIAL doubles team, Jim Baker, is also a great prospect. He seems to be best under fire . . . By the way, Baker and Kurey will spend today and tomorrow at Penn State, bidding for the state doubles crown . . . The Monessen Ozarks have signed another brother act. Ralph and Joe Arrigo, of Charleroi . . . They say that Fred Uhlman of Charleroi and Ray Glasser of Van Voorhis staged a beautiful pitchers duel in Mon Valley League action the other night. Both boys worked their way high into the minor league system before giving up on organized ball.

Sports fans will have lots to do next Memorial Day. The Pirates have a double-header scheduled with the Brooklyn Dodgers. At Monongahela, a speedboat regatta is on tap and in Uniontown, midget autos will roar around the new asphalt oval . . . The other day, we reported that former footballers Arnold Galiffa and George Kovalcik won Democratic nominations in Donora. Overlooked was another grid product, John Kosh, who played college ball at Pitt. Kosh won a school board nomination . . . That Monessen Little League "kickoff" banquet the other night was a smashing success with 300 persons turning out for the affair.

Whatever Happened to Jackets!

A reader wants to know. "Whatever became of those jackets they took away from the boys at Rostraver Junior High?" . . . That's a good question. As we get it, they are still stored away in a safe with embarrassed Rostraver officials trying to figure out what to do with them. Since the boys themselves earned most of the money for the jackets, justice dictates that the boys should get them back. On the other hand, the Junior WPIAL lawyers say no . . . Incidentally that jacket incident is being politely overlooked by other district schools We can name a dozen offenders right in this area. However no one wants to stir trouble

Cro-Ams Top MPSA By 3 to 1

The Cro-Ams stayed atop the City Softball League standings last night by nipping MPSA 3-1 on three-hit pitching by Stush Nickolich

The win was the second straight for the Cro-Ams For MPSA the game was the first of the season

Harrison Spencer almost matched Nickolich in pitching He permitted just three hits and fanned seven

John Bronson slammed two safeties, one a double, to account for two thirds of the losers safeties For the Cro-Ams, Nickolich led his own attack with a double

The game was knotted at 1-1 until the sixth when the Cro-Ams shoved over a pair of markers to decide things

1,000 Schoolboys At Penn State For Title Play

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa (UP) —Nearly a thousand schoolboy athletes converged on the Pennsylvania State University today for a weekend of competition for state PIAA championships in track and field, tennis and golf

Opening this morning were the 15th annual state tennis championships and the 23rd annual golf tournament

Saturday about 800 will compete in the 31st annual track and field event Banner performances are expected, two national records already having been set in district meets

More districts were represented in the two-day tennis competition than in any previous year Players from nine districts were vying for the singles title and doubles teams from eight districts were competing

More than 60 golfers compete in today's 36-hole qualifying round with the 24 survivors scheduled to compete in the 18-hole title round Saturday

Defending Champ

Defending his state golf title will be Harold Sweigart, of Cocalico Union High in District 3 Six others who survived last year's qualifying rounds were entered again

In tennis only four players from last year's tournament returned for another try at the crown won last year by Jack Sheltzer of Lancaster Only one of the returnees survived last year's opening round He is Kenneth Kopin, of Erie Strong Vincent

Track records most likely to fall are in the 120-yard high hurdles and the javelin throw. In the District 1 meet George Hearn Lower Merion, ran the hurdle event in 13 9 seconds a tenth of a second under the national record and in District 7 competition Jan Skorsky Mt Pleasant hurled the javelin 222 feet 10 3 4 inches to beat the previous record for the nation of 219 feet

'Dispute' Stops Work On Shawnee Field

City crews yesterday stopped work on Shawnee Field "until somebody decides where to put the backstop

Councilman John (Butch) Molnar, in charge of city parks halted work because of an alleged dispute between Monessen's Little and PONY Leagues

However spokesman for both organizations denied today that there was any trouble

Here's Molnar's story

'At the request of the Little League, our parks crew began grading the field in order to set up a regulation Little League diamond Our workers ripped down the old backstop and were about to rebuild it in the west corner.

'In the meantime, I began receiving complaints from the PONY league that the field would be no good to them if we put the backstop in that spot It seems the outfield distances would be shortened considerably

In South Corner

"As I understand it, the PONY League wants the backstop in the south corner which would enable them to play on the field, too

'Since we can't satisfy everyone, I ordered our parks crew to stop work until the Recreation Board decides where the backstop will go"

According to Little and PONY League officials, there's really no decision to be made

Said Alex Kachmarik of the Little League

'We have definitely given up on the Shawnee site Instead we'll develop the Stadium annex for our games We had assurances that the Shawnee field would be ready in time for our season but I don't think any of the managers would consider playing there now that we've devoted out of attention to the Annex'

Cullen's Side

Nick Cullen of the PONY League had this to say

'We suggested that the backstop be located in a position which would make the field suitable for both Little League and PONY League ball Moreover by placing the backstop in the south corner we would eliminate the danger to youngsters playing in other areas of the field'

Molnar repeated that his workers will return to Shawnee once the Recreation Board makes a decision

Both Kachmarik and Cullen are members of the Recreation Board

CSTC Releases Nine Game Football Card

California State Teachers gridders will play the same schedule in 1957 as they did last year according to a release of the Vulcan grid card by Athletic Director Gene Hester

Only changes are Edinboro in the fifth slot and West Chester in the final game of the season These positions were reversed last season

Coach Ted Nevetta who is assisted by Andy Sersi and Bill Heppner will have several veterans back from the 1956 unit and barring injuries the Vulcan squad is expected to have one of the best seasons in recent CSTC history

The nine game schedule follows

Sept 21—Denison home
Sept 28 — Indiana Teachers away
Oct 5 — Lock Haven away
Oct 12 — Shippensburg (Homecoming
Oct 19 — Edinboro home
Oct 26 — Clarion (Dad's Day)
Nov 2 — Bloomsburg away
Nov 9 — West Liberty home
Nov 15 — West Chester, away

Fayette City Defeats Ozarks in Valley Play

Monessen Nine Suffers Fourth Straight Loss, This Time by 9-4

The slumping Monessen Ozarks lost their fourth straight game last night, bowing to Fayette City, 9-4, at Ninth Street Park

And more trouble appears in store for the hapless Ozarks tonight when they travel to Van Voorhis

The crippled Monessen nine lost with its best pitcher yesterday — Bill Mitnick Just who Manager Pappy Johnson will start against the Vans is anybody's guess

Mitnick was soundly rapped by the FC bombers, who collected 13 safeties, including home runs by Bill Lutes and Henry Studnicki

Frank Valla worked the route for the winners, authoring a six hitter while fanning seven Mitnick also whiffed seven

Open Scoring

FC opened the scoring with a pair of runs in the first inning Tinse Manown opened with a single and moved to second on Studnicki's safety An error let in one run and Lutes doubled in another

The Ozarks came right back Tom Rotheram opened the first inning with a home run Mel Chickovich walked and Carl Crawley singled Pappy Johnson's sacrifice fly brought in a run and successive singles by Neil Hill and Ron Campbell scored another

In the second inning, Valla homered to tie the score Studnicki put FC ahead with a round trip per in the third

Ice Game

The visitors aced the game with a four run outburst in the fifth Manown singled and Studnicki walked Lutes and Mike Panich singled to drive in runs An error on Ewing Bull's slow roller let in two more runs

A walk and error gave the Ozarks their final run in the fifth frame —

Fayette City tacked on a run in the sixth on Harry Mickles double and Studnicki's third hit of the game

DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

By CARY MIDDLECOFF

Inaccurate Drives

Most golfers look on the long drive as the game's most satisfying shot I have the same feeling myself — but I also realize that there is more to "outdriving" an opponent than just hitting the ball farther than he does

Think of the drive this way: If your drive is longer than your opponent's, but his is better positioned for the second shot, then he has "outdriven" you even though both drivers are in the fairway. You might have a dangerous trap to clear to reach that part of the green on which the pin is positioned. But the green might open up nicely from where opponent's ball lies. There's the difference.

These things must be taken into account before the tee shot is hit Look on the drive, not as a chance to show your strength but as the opening maneuver in a campaign to play the hole. Look ahead!

Make Plans for Patterson to Meet Jackson

NEW YORK (UP)— Julius Helfand hopes to pair Floyd Patterson and Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson today for their independently promoted July heavyweight title fight.

"Only a last-minute snarl prevents their signing," said Chairman Helfand of the NY state Athletic Commission, "and I hope to fix that quickly at today's commission meeting."

He added, "I'd like to have the signing then and there."

The snarl is a last-minute demand by promoter Emil Lence and C.s D'Amato champion Patterson's manager, that Jackson sign a return-bout contract and permit a portion of his purse to be held in escrow as a guarantee he'll give Floyd a return title shot if he wins the crown

"I'll approve a contract for a single return title fight ' Helfand said "But there can be only one return — not a series However I do not approve Jackson's being forced to put up part of his purse as a guarantee"

The plan is for Patterson, 22 to make his first defense of the heavy crown at the Polo Grounds July 23 He won the vacant title on a fifth-round knockout over Archie Moore last Nov 30 His defense against Jackson, 25, would be their second meeting Floyd won a split 12-round decision over Tommy last June 8, and earned the right to fight Moore. Tommy now is top contender.

Akins Takes on Beecham Tonight

WASHINGTON (UP)— Veteran Virgil Akins and young Jimmy Beecham, a pair of "hungry" sluggers, clash tonight in a nationally televised 10-round welterweight bout at Capitol Arena

The powerfully-built Akins, fifth-ranked contender for Carmen Basilio's welterweight crown, is a 7-5 favorite over Beecham.

Beecham, described as a "puncher who never stops coming," is substituting for Randy Sandy, who suffered a cut eye in training

Kurey, Baker Represent WPIAL In State-Wide Doubles Action

Monessen High's fine doubles team of Joe Kurey and Jim Baker will take part in PIAA championship matches at Penn State today and tomorrow.

They will represent the WPIAL in the state-wide affair.

They will represent the WPIAL in the state-wide affair.

Kurey and Baker qualified for the event by winning the WPIAL title a week ago in Mt. Lebanon

The two Monessen boys arrived at University Park yesterday afternoon with their coach Antoinette Valentine.

They are scheduled to appear in matches today and tomorrow.

Doubles Teams

In all, eight doubles teams will participate Last year's champions, Merrill Clark and Orren Knauer, of Manheim Twp., have since graduated.

Only Dick Ludwig, of Bloomsburg, has previous tourney experience He will team with schoolmate Dick Savage

Thus the two Monessen juniors rate a fair chance in the fruelling two-day show.

Other doubles entries include Mickey Langsfield and Leon Silverman, Cheltenham; Ronald Bell and Charles Friedman, Lancaster, Dennis Richardson and Bob Halahan, Portage, Bob Stock and Jonn Krause, Pittsburgh South Hills; Jim Maloney and Tom Prather, Meadville; and Howard Whitcomb and Lee Steele, Bethlehem.

Singles Lineup

In singles competition, the WPIAL will be represented by Walter Berberich of Latrobe He is rated a good chance to succeed last years king, Jack Shertzer, of Lancaster, who has since graduated

Other singles entries include Stan Smith, Kingston; Alan Koth, Lancaster, Donald Pursel, Bloomsburg; Ivan Balk, Pittsburgh Taylor Allderdice, Larry Sobel, Easton, and Steve Rhods, Abington

Bucs Begin Series At Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—Manager Bobby Bragan plans to start four righthander pitchers for the Pittsburgh Pirates in a four-game series opening with the Philadelphia Phillies tonight.

Bob Friend (3-3) will start the series for the Pirates Jack Sanford (4-1) will oppose him

In the other games Bragan plans, Bronse Vernon Law, Ron Kline and possibly Laurin Pepper, who has been elevated to a starting role Pepper may pitch one of Sunday's two games

The Pirates have been idle since Sunday when they lost a doubleheader to Cincinnati

The club announced Thursday the transfer of infielder-pitcher Eddie O'Brien from Hollywood of the Pacific Coast League to Columbus of the International League

Righthanded pitcher Joe Trimble, on the disabled list since a knee injury in spring training was expected to rejoin the Pirates when they play an exhibition at Columbus Monday night.

Change Time on Pitt, Steeler Tilts

PITTSBURGH (UP)— Football fans will be able to see the Pittsburgh Steelers-New York Giants game here Dec. 7 and be home in time to watch the Pitt-Miami game on television

Pitt Sports Future Discussed at Fete

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The controversy over the future of big-time football at Pitt held the spotlight Thursday night at the university's fourth annual All-Sports banquet.

It was the subject of remarks by the affair's three main speakers—Mayor David L. Lawrence, Pitt Athletic Director Tom Hamilton and Dr. J. Huber Wagner, one-time football great.

Lawrence said any fear that Pitt's football fortunes are headed downward because of higher academic standards demanded under Chancellor Edward H Litchfield's new administration is "unfounded"

"Of course," the mayor said "rising populations and inadequacy of colleges to cate for all seeking higher education will force up standards throughout the country."

"We will just have to get after our district high schools to prepare the boys so they are fit when Pitt goes after them Pitt is destined to be one of the greatest universities in the world"

Not Axiomatic

Hamilton said it is "not axiomatic that you are stupid if you play sports"

"Our requirements have been tough for a long time," he said "I think any idea that our athletes aren't of high standard is a bit of reflection on ones who have played in the past."

Wagner said he didn't think higher academic standards "will hurt but instead will draw to Pitt higher type boys who want an education"

The football controversy was touched off by an article in the student newspaper

Congratulates Athletes

Litchfield sent a wire from Hillsboro, Pa., congratulating the athletes who received awards at the banquet

Joe Walton, All-America end from Beaver Falls, received the top award, the Athletic Committee Award for scholarship, athletic achievement, sportsmanship and aptitude

Ed Peery, three times NCAA wrestling champion from nearby Shaler Township, and Boo Rosborough end from Donora, shared the Charles C Harting Award given annually to the senior who has done the most to promote the cause of athletics at Pitt It was the first time there had been a tie for the award

Stobbs Has Now Lost 13 Games; Doesn't Know Why

NEW YORK (UP — Battered Chuck Stobbs of Washington, loser of all eight games he has pitched so far, goes against the Yankees today with the reassuring conviction that "things can't possibly get any worse"

"Talk about troubles," signed the luckless Senator left-hander "I've got 'em all.

"I can't get anybody out . I toss and turn when I go to sleep nights . and I'm afraid of going anywhere without people razzing me"

Stobbs was Washington's outstanding pitcher last year with 18 victories but he has a 0-8 record now and has lost 13 games in a row dating back to last season. Despite his current record, however, he still is considered a fine pitcher

"I just can't put my finger on the trouble" he said "I know my curve ball hasn't been as good as last year but my fast ball and slider have been every bit as good"

Since the season started and the defeats began mounting up, the 7-year-old Stobbs has been getting mountains of mail from people telling him what he is doing wrong

"The folks who write mean well but none of them came up with the solution yet" said the Senator southpaw. "I'm still going around looking for that famous worm that's always supposed to turn."

Giant Tackle Signs For Fifth Season

NEW YORK (UP)—Tackle Roosevelt Brown, who was the New York Giants' 27th draft choice five years ago, has signed his fifth National Football League contract with the club. Brown, 6-3, 245-pounder, is regarded by some observers as the fastest "big man" in the NFL.

Midget Cars to Race Thursday At Uniontown

Midget auto racing will return to Uniontown this Memorial Day Preliminary events will begin at 2 30 p m at the new quarter mile asphalt speedway, located on Route 40, one mile east of Uniontown.

The holiday show will be sponsored by the Tri-State Racing Association of Akron, O., one of the largest midget racing organizations in the country.

The schedule calls for four preliminary races, an Australian pursuit race, a semi-final and a feature event of twenty five laps

A large field is expected for the show on the dustless oval

Parking facilities for more than a thousand cars are available.

Expect Rain for Speedway Trials

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind (UP) — Drivers and mechanics cast anxious glances skyward today amid indications the weatherman may be their top foe again in weekend qualifications for next Thursday's 500-mile auto race

The forecast of scattered showers was virtually a carbon copy of last week, when only nine drivers beat the clock and the rain to nail down spots in the 41st annual Memorial Day Classic

The trials were scheduled to end at 6 p.m. edt Sunday However speedway owner Tony Hulman assured car owners and drivers "everybody will get a chance and that qualifications will be extended to Monday or Tuesday, if necessary — to assure a full field of 33 starters.

Twenty-two roadsters, which lined up along the pit wall last Saturday and Sunday in a vain attempt to qualify, will get first crack at the 24 positions still open

I Thank You!

I wish to thank all who voted for, and supported me in the primary election.

To Julio Contine, Ed Francowic, Don Shrader, Pete Toussaint, Johnny Pasterick, and the many, many others who worked so tirelessly for me, I give my everlasting gratitude.

Sincerely,

Don Gross Wins Fourth Straight As Cincinnati Defeats Cardinals

By UNITED PRESS

Manager Birdie Tebbetts of the Cincinnati Redlegs was really chirping today over the sudden emergence of southpaw Don Gross as a starting pitcher.

Strapped for pitching talent three weeks ago, Tebbetts pulled Gross out of the bullpen and started working him into Cincinnati's regular rotation. It was a move that could lead the Redlegs to their first National League pennant since 1940.

Since getting his big chance Gross has posted four straight victories for the front-running Redlegs, including a 6-2 decision over the St Louis Cardinals Thursday night that enabled Cincinnati to open a two-game lead over the idle Milwaukee Braves

What's the story behind the sudden success of a pitcher who was farmed out to Havana last year "for experience," and now has allowed only 24 hits and seven earned runs in his last four games"

Throwing Change-Up

According to Tebbetts, Gross with the help of coach Tom Ferrick, has learned to throw a change-up pitch almost overnight

'The story of every unsuccessful pitcher is the story of one extra pitch he needed to win," explained Tebbetts. "Many were made by losing it For instance Carl Hubbell with his screwball Elroy Face with his forkball, and Bob Friend and Hal Jeffcoat with their sliders'

'This change-up pitch could make Gross ' the articulate Cincinnati manager added hopefully

In Thursday night's game—the only scheduled major league contest — manager Fred Hutchinson shook up the slumping Cardinals by switching third baseman Ken Boyer to center field, moving shortstop Eddie Kasko to third and using Eddie Miksis in right field

Cards Drop Fifth Straight

But with Gross tossing that change-up pitch, the Cardinals looked helpless in suffering their fifth straight defeat. Gross allowed only three hits until the ninth when he gave up singles to Don Blasingame, Stan Musial and Wally Moon.

Moon's single with two out scored Blasingame and extended his hitting streak through 16 straight games. Taking no chances, Tebbetts then yanked Gross in favor of Tom Acker, who retired pinch-hitter Joe Cunningham on a game-ending liner to right fielder Wally Post

The Redlegs, meanwhile, had rapped loser Lindy McDaniel for five runs in the third inning Post's two-run homer and a two-run single by Roy McMillan featured the big inning. Musial homered in the fourth inning, while Post knocked in Cincinnati's sixth run with a single in the sixth.

The Yankees snapped out of their doldrums by rolling to a 17-hit, 10-7 victory over the Dodgers Thursday night in a benefit exhibition game

'Light' Bomb Falls From Jet Bomber

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (UP)—Kirtland Air Force Base officials disclosed Thursday that a "light bomb shook loose rom an Air Force jet bomber Wednesday and exploded over desert terrain.

Officials said the bomb, which exploded about five miles south of Albuquerque, did not cause injury or property damage. They said they withheld the story from the public for 24 hours until completion of an investigation and a search for any other explosives.

The bomb shook loose from the plane at the 2,000 foot level because of "equipment malfunction," the Air Force said.

Russia, U. S. Only Great Powers Who Dare to Educat e Everybody

(Dr. Alvin E. Eurich, former acting president of Stanford University and first president of the State University of New York, is vice president and director of the Fund for the Advancement of Education established by the Ford Foundation. He recently inspected the Soviet system, from kindergartens to universities in Moscow, Leningrad and Kiev. He interviewed students, professors and the ministers of higher education. This is the first of two dispatches reporting his findings.)

By ALVIN E. EURICH

NEW YORK (UP) — Russia and the United States are the only two great powers in the history of man that have dared to educate everybody. The Soviets in recent years have surged ahead at a terrific pace.

They gave much more than lip service to education; they assign it top priority. In doing so they challenge us in an area where we think we are strong.

We tend to pooh-pooh their effort at our own peril.

The Russians have the advantage with clear-cut goals for their educational system. They aim to train specialists for the service of the state who are thoroughly indoctrinated in Communism. We want to educate the "whole personality" or the "total man" without knowing clearly what this means.

To achieve their goals the Soviets have set up a thorough and rigid system of education which provides for few electives. We have developed an easy-going educational program differing widely among institutions and school systems.

Because of the importance the Soviets attach to education:

They have enough teachers. Practically all of their university graduates are prepared to teach in secondary schools. About one-half of the graduates actually do go into teaching.

Professors High Salaried

The salaries of university professors or top educators are just about the highest paid in Soviet society. The professor's base pay is 6,000 rubles per month. For any outside work, he gets extra pay. Although a direct comparison in dollars is almost impossible, at 10 rubles to a dollar, the professor could earn $20,000 or more a year.

This places him on a par with a manager of a large manufacturing plant. His base pay is about double that of a practicing physician. Furthermore, a professor's taxes and rent are low and he pays nothing for medical services or for the education of his children.

As an incentive to further study, teachers are granted time off at full pay to advance their studies.

Students are admitted to an institution of higher learning wholly on the basis of scholarship and examinations and not on ability to pay for an education. This means that practically all top-ranking students have an opportunity for higher education. They are paid for going to the university, the highest - ranking students getting the most pay.

Students who drop out along the way go to farms or may get technical training. University students are not drafted for military service, on the theory that no kind of service can be more important than that performed by a thoroughly trained specialist.

Contrast With America

This is a striking contrast with the U.S. educational system where there is a critical shortage of at least 120,000 teachers this year and another 80,000 teachers do not meet minimum standards; where professors in large universities receive an average of $7,000 a year and those in smaller institutions considerably less; where teachers must take advanced training at their own expense; where top ranking students can get a higher education only if they can afford to pay for it.

To be sure, it is most difficult to have clear objectives for an educational program in a democracy. Also the pressure groups demanding their particular brand must be satisfied even though the result is utter confusion.

To be sure, Russia's educational system is not perfect—far from it. The program is extremely rigid not only in prescribed courses but also with its requirement of a standard textbook for each course throughout the country. Also the humanities suffer with the strong emphasis on science and mathematics.

If, however, the long-range cold war is to be won or lost by the supply of highly educated manpower, is it not time for us to reconsider the education of our youth?

Scotland's largest clan consists of the Smiths. There are sixteen Smiths for every thousand inhabitants in Scotland.

Named Director In State Bureau

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Internal Affairs Department today announced the appointment of Andrew S. Bullis, 535 Liberty St., Allentown, as director of its Bureau of Municipal Affairs, at a salary of $8,163 a year.

Bullis, formerly assistant director, replaces Robert H. McGregor who resigned recently to become borough manager of Hanover, York County.

Senate Approves Study of State's 'Blue Laws'

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Senate Thursday authorized a study of Pennsylvania's Sunday obsolete provisions of the so-called "Blue Laws."

A resolution sponsored by state Sen. Joseph J. Yosko (D-Northampton) and Rowland B. Mahany (R-Crawford), unanimously adopted by the chamber, directed the Assembly's investigating arm, the Joint State Government Commission, to make an investigation into the "operation and affect" of the Sunday observance laws, which it termed "obsolete, ridiculous, unenforceable and a mockery of justice."

"Even the amount of penalty prescribed by the Act of 1794 for engaging in business on Sunday is still the law; and no violator can be fined more than $4 for keeping open his place of business on Sunday," the measure said.

Yosko said that if the laws are to be in force "they should be brought up to date or replaced with other legislation."

Billy Graham Is Pleased with Crusade Results

NEW YORK (UP)— Evangelist Billy Graham said Thursday night his ambitious New York Crusade so far has "given me a feeling down deep, a glorious sensing in my soul that it will be a great success."

He said in an interview with the United Press following his ninth sermon in Madison Square Garden that "this conviction, and how it progresses or regresses, will be the deciding factor as to whether we end the crusade June 30, as scheduled, or run it through the summer."

Graham said that another great factor was "the number of decisions for Christ that come out of our meetings here." He said that so far the 5,830 "decisions" made by New Yorkers in the first nine days of the crusade has made him feel "better than I have in my life."

Thursday night, an estimated 765 persons came forward to make decisions for Christ following Graham's sermon on "The Spiritual Disease of The Heart."

Helicopter Crashes Near Alaskan Base

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UP)—A H21 helicopter of the 5039th Air Transport Squadron at Elmendorf Air Force Base crashed 40 miles northwest of Anchorage near the village of Willow Thursday night, the Air Force reported today.

Syria Orders Troops To Pull Out of Jordan

By UNITED PRESS

The Syrian government has ordered the withdrawal of its troops from Jordan in the start of a new Syrian and Egyptian campaign to restore their old alliance with Saudi Arabia and Jordan, Middle East dispatches reported today.

Syria's announcement it was withdrawing 3,000 troops from Jordan at the request of King Hussein coincided with Cairo dispatches that Syria and Egypt were trying to save their old alliance and prevent a new pro-Western alignment of the Arab states.

Syria sent some 3,000 troops into Jordan at the time of Israel's invasion of the Sinai Desert last October when an invasion of Jordan also was feared. A note from Hussein to the Syrian government thanked it for the "military assistance" and said the troops were no longer necessary."

Syrian press reports said the troops withdrawal would be completed today. Hussein was reported to have asked the troops withdrawal at the height of his recent political crisis but Syria apparently refused both Saudi and Iraqi troops moved up to the borders in event of Syrian intervention in Jordan.

Since then King Saud of Saudi Arabia and King Feisal of Iraq held a series of meetings in Baghdad which some Middle East sources believed would end Saud's old ties with Egypt and Syria and bring him into a new pro-Western alliance with Iraq, Jordan and the Lebanon.

Egyptian political figures denied in Cairo today that the alliance had been weakened, but the same dispatch said President Shukri El Kuwatli of Syria sent an emissary to Cairo for talks with President Gamal Abdel Nasser aimed at "reviving" the "neutralist" alliance.

The official Soviet Communist newspaper Pravda today blasted Israel for its acceptance of the Eisenhower Doctrine. It said this runs counter to Israel's pledge to Russia to keep out of alliances pursuing "aggressive aims" against the Soviet Union.

The Pravda article, broadcast by Moscow Radio, told Israel it was on a "dangerous course" and accused it of "accepting the role the United States has assigned to them."

Named to Office in GSA

HARRISBURG (UP) — Auditor General Charles C. Smith was elected vice president and assistant treasurer of the General State Authority Monday to succeed Weldon B. Heyburn, former state treasurer.

The board elected Amadeo J. Caruso, former executive director of the Bureau of Employment Security, as executive director of the authority. Caruso will hold the same office with the state Highway and Bridge Authority. K. R. Burke, acting director of the GSA, will return to his former duties as deputy executive director.

The Highway and Bridge Authority also elected Robert F. Kent, state treasurer, as its treasurer.

The board discussed but took no action on the controversy concerning construction of a mental health hospital for which land was purchased in Haverford, Delaware County.

Legislation to recall authorization for the construction was recently introduced in the Senate following a statement by Welfare Secretary Harry Shapiro that if faced with a choice of getting the money allocated for the hospital or the building itself he would choose the money.

Leader Lauds Shortway Decision

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader has described federal approval of the proposed 291-mile Keystone Shortway on the interstate system as a potential "economic shot-in-the arm" for the many Pennsylvania communities to be affected by the estimated 300 million dollar project.

The governor warned however that Republican leaders in the General Assembly should abandon plans to curtail the state's industrial development program because the shortway and the industrial development program "must go hand in hand."

"Certainly, this should mean the ushering-in of a bright new era for the Central Pennsylvania heartland," the governor said. "For many years, except during World War II, too much of this area has been plagued with economic blight. Industry wants to go where there are good roads.

"The Shortway project is one of the outstanding highway undertakings in the nation. By providing a direct east-west interstate link it emphatically serves a vital function for Pennsylvania."

At the same time, Leader disclosed that Highways Secretary Joseph J. Lawler has ordered immediate resumption of a 29 million dollar improvement program on U.S. 6, which had been held up pending a decision on whether to put the Shortway on the interstate system and thus have the federal government bear 90 per cent of the cost.

U.S. 6 will remain in the primary system on a federal-state 50-50 cost basis for improvements designed primarily to eliminate hazards, dangerous curves and narrow bridges.

The U.S. Bureau of Public Roads will soon issue a route description for the Shortway, which is expected to follow the recommendations of the state Highways Department for terminal points in the general areas of Sharon in the west to Stroudsburg in the east.

Awaits Details on Route

Lawler emphasized the telegram from B. D. Tallamy, federal highway administrator, established control points "and precise locations of the entire route will not be known until the department receives the letter of route description."

Tallamy said the Shortway will extend from a point on the Ohio line "where adequate connection" can be made with Youngstown, Ohio, east to the vicinity of Lock Haven, the Hazleton-Wilkes-Barre area "and thence easterly to a point of junction with the interstate system extending between Delaware Water Gap and the vicinity of Scranton."

Highways Department engineers estimate it will take from 10 to 12 years to complete the project.

The state's recommendation for inclusion of the Shortway in the interstate system was submitted last July 6, six days after enactment of the 1956 federal highway act.

The delay in reaching a decision was believed caused by the attempt of some individuals and industries located in the vicinity of U.S. 6 across the northern tier counties to have that highway included in the interstate system instead of the Shortway.

Lawler reiterated that engineering studies showed the Shortway could be constructed on the interstate system for $12,815,000 less than U.S. 6, that it would serve a greater population and would be of greater value to the motoring public as an east-west highway.

Warnings Help to Cut Flood Losses

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Warnings put out by federal and state flood forecasters cut damage resulting from high waters in the Oil City and Meadville areas last January by nearly $500,000, according to the United States Weather Bureau.

The bureau said actual loss from the January floods in the two areas amounted to $267,950, but the damage would have been $750,000 had it not been for the pre-flood warnings.

The floods, according to the bureau, were the result of ice gorge conditions in the Allegheny River.

Reported Theft From Treasurer's Office Claimed

CHICAGO (UP)— The state's attorney planned a grand jury investigation today into the theft of $444,299 from the Cook County (Chicago) treasurer's office and said the case had "overtones" of the Hodge scandal.

State's attorney Benjamin S. Adamowski said another $638,727 also may have been looted to boost the plunder beyond the million-dollar mark.

Treasurer Herbert C. Paschen announced that the shortages were discovered by auditors Thursday.

Adamowski subpenaed all books and records for the past 10 years from the treasurer's office for a grand jury investigation. He said it probably will take months to fully audit the records.

Adamowski said the funds were embezzled by drawing phony checks on the taxpayers' money, a system similar to that used by imprisoned former state auditor Orville E. Hodge to rob the state treasury of some $2,500,000.

"There are overtones of similarity with the Hodge scandal," Adamowski, a Republican, said.

Methodist Church Society Hears Program Wednesday

The Women's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist Church met on Wednesday evening in the church. In the absence of the president, Mrs. Earl Cramer, who is in Charleroi-Monessen Hospital, the vice president, Mrs. George Venture, presided. She opened with a short devotion for the health of Mrs. Cramer.

The hymn, "God Will Take Care of You" was sung and there was prayer by the group.

Frances Lowman read a poem in tribute to "Mothers".

Mrs. John Nelson was devotional leader and the theme was "Give Because We Love". The purpose was to indicate the vast unfinished task of Christian service. Several members assisted in presenting pleas from various foreign fields.

Mrs. Bert McNutt was the pianist for the hymn and for the solo, "We Give Thee But Thine Own" sung by Mrs. William Bierwirth. At the close of the lesson period, Mrs. John Kinsey continued the study "Women of the Bible" with "Elizabeth, Mother of John the Baptist" as her subject

Elizabeth Roley, lay-delegate of the local church to the Conference held by the Pittsburgh District at Asbury Church, Uniontown, gave her report.

Mrs. Ventura then conducted the business session. For this meeting the women who helped weekly for the Rotary dinner and for banquets, weddings and other activities and who cannot always attend the regular meetings were asked to be present to hear Miss Edna McCully's treasurer's report of the past few years and how the money was used.

A tribute was paid to all women, who work in the church in a short talk entitled "Hand Full of Power" by Mrs. Paul Davison and it closed with the poem, "Christ Has No Hands, But Our Hands".

A letter just received from Josephine Kriz, McKeesport District missionary to India was read by Mrs. William Schatz.

Mrs. Ventura announced the June meeting would be a picnic supper at the home of Mrs. William Bierwirth with Mrs. Kenneth Beazell as leader.

The meeting adjourned with the hymn, "God Be With You". Luncheon was served by Mrs. Charles Kellar, Mrs. John C. Peth, Mrs. Renee Vanaman, Mrs. James Doyle and Mrs. Ed Simms.

Poppy Day in Belle Vernon This Saturday

Disabled veterans have made poppies which will be worn in honor of war dead on Poppy Day, Saturday, May 25.

The memorial flowers will be distributed on the streets by women of three generations of war service families, according to Mrs. Mary Ferrari, Poppy chairman of the Belle Vernon American Legion Auxiliary.

Among the volunteer Poppy Day workers will be brides of 1917-1918, whose husbands served in World War I and sons in World War II. Working with them will be their daughters, whose husbands served in World War II or the Korean conflict, or both, and their granddaughters, whose fathers were in the World War II or Korean War forces. Local Girl Scouts have also offered to assist.

All will be giving their efforts to help keep bright the memory of those who died in the three conflicts.

Darlene Johnston

Darlene Johnston Is Selected as 'All Starlet'

Darlene Johnston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Johnston, of Jones St., who was graduated from Bellmar High School on Wednesday night, has been selected as one of the "All Starlets" to be present at the Jaycee sponsored football game in Pittsburgh.

The game will be played on Aug. 13 between an All Star Western Pennsylvania and Allegheny County team.

Miss Johnston is one of 55 girls selected from representatives of 175 schools to take part in this 10th annual Pittsburgh Jaycee celebration and vie for the title of "Miss Jaycee of 1957".

In High School Miss Johnston has been active in the Thespians and other groups and has also been head majorette for the High School Band.

Card Club Meets

The "8" C Deals were entertained at the home of Mrs. Sara Worry, 303 Market St., Monday evening.

Winning the prizes for the high score awards were Mrs. Sara Bednarczyk, Mrs. Dolores Jones and Catherine Cacciamiani.

Luncheon was served following play.

Gemmills Honor Guests at Farewell Party in Church

Dr. John Gemmill and his two sisters, Ann and Lois, who plan to leave within the next few days for their new home near Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., were guests of honor at a farewell party at the First Presbyterian Church of Belle Vernon on Tuesday evening.

Attending the affair along with members of the congregation were several relatives and close friends of the honored guests. The party was arranged as a surprise and the guests were assembled in the church social rooms when the three were taken to the church by friends on some pretext.

Dan Graue acted as master of ceremonies and group singing was led by William Mascara with Mrs. Betty Bunardzya at the piano.

Favorite solos of the Gemmills were sung by Millicent Steen and Walter Leitch.

Harry Duff spoke in behalf of the Session and all the men of the church. Mrs. Earl F. Willson presented a farewell message in behalf of the women of the church.

Introduced as guest speaker was the Rev. George L. Kress, a former pastor of the church, who is now serving in Gibsonia. In a humorous manner the Rev. Mr. Kress told of his associations with the Gemmill family during his years in Belle Vernon. He concluded by presenting the honored guests with a portable television set and stand as a gift from the group of guests present.

Refreshments were served by a group of church women headed by Mrs. George Wilkinson. On the gift committee were Mrs. C. G. Dickson, Mrs. George Fee and Mrs. J. R. Terney.

Dr. Gemmill spoke briefly in behalf of his sisters and himself. The Gemmill family have long resided on Broad Ave., Belle Vernon, the site where the new Bell Telephone Co. building will be erected. Dr. Gemmill practiced medicine in Belle Vernon for many years with his offices on Main St. and retired a little more than a year ago. He and his sisters have long been active in the Presbyterian Church and the community.

Dr. Gemmill was the first local resident to receive the honor of being selected "Belle Vernon's Outstanding Citizen" by the local American Legion Post 659.

The Rev. S. George Clarke, church pastor, assisted in making the party arrangements.

Lynnwood Church Vacation School Opens June 3

The Church Vacation School of the Lynnwood Lutheran Church will be conducted from June 3 through June 14 at the church and the study theme selected is "Bible Stories to Live By".

Mrs. Joseph Uritzie will direct the activity with Mrs. Victor Mueller as pianist and Mrs. George Cenkner as musical director.

Themes and teachers have been assigned for the classes including the nursery with the theme "Bible Stories for Three Year Olds" and Mrs. John Rankin and Mrs. Roy Edwards as teachers; kindergarten, "Tell Me A Bible Story" with Mrs. Clinton Manown and Mrs William Martin, teachers.

"A Bible Story Book" will be the primary theme with Mrs. Veryl Shaffer, Mrs. James Salay and Mrs. Charles Bobbs as teachers. The junior department theme will be "Bible Stories That Help Us Live" and teachers will be Mrs. Wilfred Taylor and Mrs. William Kioski. The senior theme selected is "God Calling" and Mrs. Charles Nalepa will be teacher.

Assistant teachers will be Mrs. Dominic Pro, Mrs. Emil Revala, Mrs. John Joseph and Mrs. Joseph Zippay.

The closing program will be held on June 14 at 7 p. m. and there will be a picnic on Friday, June 7, on the church lawn.

A number of registrations have already been made and an invitation is open to any of the young people, who wish to attend.

Mimirian Society To Close Season

The Mimirian Literary Society will conclude the current year of activity tomorrow afternoon with a luncheon at Century Inn. The party will serve a double purpose and will mark the silver anniversary of the organization of the club.

Miss Frances Lowman is president of the club. A special anniversary program is planned.

Final Canteen at Vernon Tomorrow

The final canteen on the current school year will be held on Saturday evening at the Vernon Junior High School. It is under the sponsorship of the Bellmarette Band Boosters with Mrs. James Naccarato as the chairman.

Various special features are planned for the students and dancing will be to recorded music.

The Ladies Auxiliary to the Washington Township Volunteer Fire Co. will meet Monday evening in the fire hall.

Fire Auxiliary to Plan for Carnival

The Ladies Auxiliary to Belle Vernon Fire Co. No. 2 will meet on Monday evening in the fire hall and during the business session plans will be completed for the annual carnival.

Carol Davenport is acting as carnival chairman and the event will be staged on Second St. from Saturday, June 1, through Saturday June 8.

A parade will be held as the highlight of carnival week and further plans will be made for this activity at the Monday meeting.

Prize Winners for Club Meeting

A meeting of the Miss and Mrs. Club was held on Monday evening at the home of Janice Ackinclose and the time was spent in playing five hundred.

The hostess won the high score award and other prizes were won by Wanda Winters, Sheila Davis and Lucille Coursin.

Plans were made for the next meeting at the home of Lynn Zema and luncheon was served.

During the business session Lucille Coursin gave a financial statement and Sheila Davis was elected secretary.

Janice Ackinclose left this week for New York, where she will train as an airline hostess and her place in the club will be taken by Lauralee McCune.

Mrs. Kenneth Clark, Graham St. and Mrs. Arthur Morley and daughter, Debbie Jo, of Tarentum, who are visiting here were in Pittsburgh Wednesday.

Mrs. E. H Coetin, who has been a patient in Mercy Hospital, Pittsburgh underwent surgery there this week.

Make Plans to Adopt Safety Spur Crossings

Tony Stringhill, a member of North Belle Vernon Council, received a report this week on the possibility of adopting some safety measures for students, who have to cross the Express Highway spur that goes through the borough.

A few weeks ago Stringhill wrote to the Department of Public Instruction concerning this problem and since has received a reply from Ivan Stehman, coordinator of highway safety and education.

Stehman stated that a survey of the controversial area would be made and last week Lt. McKee, of the Washington Barracks of the Pennsylvania State Police made the study.

Stringhill was advised that larger warning signs will be requested at the Baltimore and Wilson St. crossings. It was also suggested that Borough Council and School Board try to work out some method of providing ladycops for duty at these places.

No permanent plan was suggested because present plans call for a cloverleaf crossing to be constructed in that area. Some effort will be made to provide safety for the children using the crossings until that time.

Claims Churches Thrive Best If Under Some Persecution

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON (UP) — The historic axiom that the Christian Church thrives best under persecution is being proved anew in modern Europe, a Lutheran leader said today.

West of the Iron Curtain, said Dr. Carl E. Lund-quist of Geneva, Switzerland, "the churches are free—and half empty."

To the east, where Communist satellite governments are actively harassing religion, "Christians are making heroic sacrifices to remain loyal to their faith."

As executive secretary of the Lutheran World Federation, Lund-quist has traveled thousands of miles in the past few years to visit Lutheran churches on both sides of the Iron Curtain in Europe, and in many countries of Asia and Africa. He is now in the United States to prepare for the assembly of the Lutheran World Federation which will be held in Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 15-25.

Delegations from 27 countries, representing most of the world's 70 million Lutherans, will attend the Minneapolis meeting.

Lund-quist said in an interview that European Christians are "intensely curious" about the apparent religious revival in America. It seems to contradict the lessons of history, as well as the current experience of European churches, for U.S. church membership to reach record-breaking peaks in a time of great material prosperity.

West Europe Differs

In the nations of Western Europe, he said, where living standards also are high and where churches enjoy the same freedom and privileges as American churches, there is "nothing remotely comparable" to this country's upsurge of religious interest.

"Attendance at most of the Western European churches is very low. The mass attitude toward religion seems to be generally one of indifference."

But even America's concern with religion pales by comparison with the "fervent attachment" of Eastern European Christians to their persecuted churches.

"The greatest story in Protestantism today is the courageous resistance which East Germany's 16 million Lutherans are putting up against a tremendous effort by the Communist government to get them to desert the church."

Lund-quist said East German children are under "terrible pressure" from the government to take the so-called "civil confirmation oath," swearing loyalty to Communist principles and to Soviet Russia, as a substitute for the traditional rite of church confirmation.

A teen-ager who refuses to take the Communist oath is warned that he can go no further in school, that he will have no chance to get a good job, and that his parents may be ousted from their homes and jobs.

Bishop Rejects Compromise

Lund-quist said the East German Lutheran Church, under the leadership of Bishop Otto Dibulius of Berlin, has rejected any compromise with the Red regime and has told its members that "they must choose between civil confirmation or church confirmation."

Despite the government's threats, only four per cent of the east German children who reached confirmation age last year chose Communism over the church.

The East German government has not yet disclosed whether it will permit Dibelius and other East German Lutheran leaders to attend the Minneapolis meeting. Lund-quist will go to Berlin soon to discuss the matter.

Bishop Lajos Ordass of Hungary, who was released from a Red prison shortly before last fall's abortive freedom revolt, has received permission from his government to lead a six-man Hungarian delegation to Minneapolis. Ordass, whom Lund-quist described as "a living martyr," will

'Home Care Plan' to Save Hospital Bills

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (UP) — A hospital "home care plan" was described by a St. Louis physician Thursday which he said would lower the cost of patient care to less than $3 a day and free hospital beds for the more seriously ill patients.

Dr. David Littauer, executive director of Jewish Hospital, told the ninth annual meetng of the Mddle Atlantic Hospital Assembly here that his institution has been using the "home care" program for the past four years.

Littauer said patients were transferred from the hospital to their own residences and given adequate medical attention.

"Many cases can be treated in their homes at least as well and sometimes better than in the hospital," Littauer said. He pointed out, however, tha this was true only when the home environment was suitable and medical and health personnel were available.

The Middle Atlantic Hospital Assembly is composed of hospital associations from New York, Pennsylvania, and New Jersey.

The Pennsylvania State Association of Nurses Anesthetists meeting in conjunction with the assembly elected: First vice president, Isabel McFate, Pittsburgh; Secretary, Alberta P. Felentzer, Pittsburgh; treasurer, Margaret L. Lee, Pittsburgh; trustees, Jean A. Nowicki, Philadelphia; Mrs. Edna N. Whisley, Philadelphia, and Ann B. Hrin, Dubois.

'No Crisis' in Argentina, UP Told by President

BUENOS AIRES (UP) — President Pedro E. Aramburu said today "there is no crisis" in the Argentine government, but that "invisible strings" were attempting to create unrest.

Aramburu told the United Press in an interview that attempts to provoke unrest would be crushed.

He said he intended to go ahead with his plans to restore constitutional rule in Argentina and that his program has the support of the "country's sound opinion."

Asked about reports of a serious government crisis, Aramburu said:

"We must believe there are certain invisible strings which are moving a bitter campaign to disturb the country and bring the government into disrepute. It is obvious that there is the intention to cause us harm, and therefore we want to warn Argentines and foreigners that they should not make mistakes when evaluating our national situation.

"The ills of the past have been too serious to be cured already, but you can be sure that we march firmly on the way to our recovery. . .the Argentine people want peace and tranquility in democracy."

Christ Lutheran Church School Holds Meeting

Eighteen members attended the May meeting of the Church School Association of Christ Evangelical Lutheran Church Tuesday evening in the parish house.

The leader for the evening was Mrs. Dorothy Specht, using as her topic, "How to Tell a Story".

The business session was conducted by Mr. Gustave Ulander, who opened by reading an article on "Stewardship". Each department gave a report as well as several committees. Mrs. Alice Crossland reported that 27 young people have been accepted for Camp Lutherlyn this summer.

A report on the Vacation Bible Church was given by Mrs. Sophia Rieser. Eighty pupils have been enrolled to date and a preliminary teacher's meeting has been held. The school will be conducted from June 10 until June 21.

The resignation of Charles Breakiron as treasurer of the association was accepted and Mrs. Ruth Weise was elected to succeed him.

An announcement was made that the Sunday School convention will be held in West Newton Saturday, June 8. Delegates to this committee from West Newton are as follows:

Gene Lenk, Mrs. Helen Potachnik, Betty Rak, and Mr. and Mrs. Philip Weise. Serving on the registration committee will be Betty Rak and Gladys Urinseo.

The next meeting will be held on Tuesday, June 18.

Hildy McCoy to Stay With Adopted Parents

MIAMI BEACH (UP)—Freckle-faced Hildy McCoy and the Jewish couple who took her into their home happily celebrated her first grade graduation today, knowing for the first time they will always belong to each other.

Hildy, 6, was to make the welcoming speech to parents and act and dance in a rendition of "Snow White And The Seven Dwarfs" in ceremonies at the Lear Private School.

But no fairy tale could match the real-life drama for Mr. and Mrs. Melvin B. Ellis. Thursday before Gov. Leroy Collins at Tallahassee.

Extradition Request Denied

Collins announced late Thursday after a hearing that he is denying a petition to extradite the Jewish couple to Massachusetts where they would face charges of kidnaping the blonde, blue-eyed child they have reared from infancy. They will be permitted to live in Florida and rear Hildy as a Jew, even though she was born to a Roman Catholic mother.

Hildy's mother, who put her up for adoption and changed her mind when she learned the Ellises were Jewish, sought to have Hildy placed in an orphanage for adoption by a Roman Catholic family. Massachusetts courts upheld her.

The executive decision cannot be appealed. Collins denied Massachusetts authorities permission to file additional briefs.

The Ellises have filed proceedings in a Miami circuit court of adoption of Hildy under Florida laws.

Poppy Day and Memorial Day Plans Revealed

Plans have been made for the annual Poppy Day sale in Perryopolis to be held Saturday. Memorial Day services were also planned by members of the Gold Star Post 7023, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Walter Radishek is general chairman and Mrs. Margaret Chubboy, co-chairman. Other committee members include Mrs. Lucille Brewer, of Layton, Mrs. Pauline Timko and Mrs. Edna Radishek, of Wick Haven.

A house-to-house canvass will be made in Perry Twp. with high school students helping with the solicitation.

Memorial Day services will be held at 2 p. m. on May 30 at the Perryopolis Honor Roll. Taking part will be the Perry-Lower Tyrone High School Band.

Radishek is also chairman of the Memorial Day services and serving on the committee are Raymond Stuck, Joseph Zedehovan, John Timko and Steve Chubboy.

Markers and flags will be placed on graves of veterans in the township and borough by Sam Angelo, Louis Dreon, James Lamanna, Louis Chubboy and Pete Timko.

Bowling Team Holds Banquet

The Mixed Couples Bowling team held its annual banquet on Saturday at the Blue Top night club on Route 51. Approximately 35 attended.

Earl Hixenbaugh was master of ceremonies and Thomas Karocik presented the trophies. Most outstanding bowler went to John Bachhofer. Mr. and Mrs. Adam Davis, Joe Dutchko, Mabel Stuck, all of Perryopolis, and Elizabeth Evans and Don Bell, of Fayette City, also received trophies.

George Eckenrode is president and Wanda Bell treasurer. On the banquet committee were Wanda Bell, Joyce Eckenrode and George Eckenrode.

Three Troopers Promoted in State

HARRISBURG (UP)—State Police Commissioner Earl J. Henry today announced promotions of three troopers and transfer of two others.

Promoted from trooper to corporal were Peter E. Scolere, Troop "B" Washington, Pa., Edward H. Shevenock, Troop "B", Harrisburg and Joseph J. Hines, Troop "A", Hazleton.

Trooper George C. Doll was transferred from Troop "C", Reading, to Troop "B", Harrisburg, and trooper Albert G. Grzeski was shifted from Troop "B" Harrisburg, to Troop "C", Reading.

Key Leaders Predict Postage Bill Passage

WASHINGTON (UP) — Key House leaders predicted today the House will pass the administration's multi-million-dollar postage bill by a "substantial vote."

Their confidence was based on the House's approval last year of a similar measure also boosting the cost of mailing a letter by a penny.

Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. (Mass.) figured all the budget talk in Congress should give the bill an added push this year. The bill is designed to cut the Post Office Department's huge deficits.

The bill's prospects in the Senate, however, appeared doubtful.

The House Post Office Committee handed Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield a victory Thursday by approving — without a single change — the rate increases he asked.

But Rep. Charles O. Porter (D-Ore.) served notice he and some other committee Democrats will fight on the House floor to strike out the heart of the bill—the one-cent increase for regular and air mail letters and postcards. Porter said amendments also will be offered to scale down the second and third class rate increases.

The bill, as approved by the committee by a reported 2-1 margin, would increase all three classes of postage rates July 1.

In addition to the letter and postcard increases, it calls for four annual 15 per cent hikes in second class rates for newspapers and magazines, a 25 per cent boost in book rates and a substantial boost for third class advertising matter. For third class the increase would amount to 50 per cent on items mailed individually and 66 per cent over two years for bulk mailings.

British Medical Journal Warns Of U. S. Vaccine

LONDON (UP)— The British Medical Journal warned today that American polio vaccine is potentially dangerous and some brands of it are inferior to British vaccine.

"Perhaps the main reason why the government has not yet ordered American vaccine to supplement our own" said the authoritative weekly "is that the same warranty for its safety cannot be given as the Glaxo product (the British vaccine) receives from the Medical Research Council's test.

"Though the chances may be remote that live virus will contaminate any vaccine supplied to the public nowadays, the fact that this did once apparently happen is enough to impose caution. The Mahoney strain used for the type-1 antigen is many times more virulent than the Bruenders strain used in Great Britain so that if by mischance some in a live state reached the public the result could be serious.

Soup Really Hot

NEW YORK (UP)— Carl Hansen, 32, went to a hospital Thursday night with second degree burns of the neck and back after a waiter spilled a plate of soup on him in a hotel dining room, police said.

National Meeting Planned

CHICAGO (UP)—The 1960 session of the General Conference of Methodist Churches will meet April 25 at Denver.

The location and dates of the quadrennial conference were decided here late Wednesday by a 14-man commission headed by the Rev. Dr. William H. Alderson, Bridgeport, Conn.

The General Conference is the supreme law and policy making body of the Methodist Church and meets every four years for a two-week legislative session. It is composed of between 800 and 900 delegates.

Manville Dropped as Guest on TV Show

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP)—The channel swim...

Tommy Manville, the fellow with the altar ego, has been dropped as guest from the June 2 Mike Wallace ABC-TV interview show. Mike lunched with Manville and decided he was too lightweight. Earl Browder, former head of the Communist Party in the United States, will pinchhit.

The Spike Jones show on CBS-TV has the wobbles. Shirley Jocelyn, cousin of Marlon Brando, will make her TV debut on ABC-TV's "Ford Theatre" June 26. Title of the vehicle is "Adventure For Hire."

NBC-TV has decided to ax the Jonathan Winters show. Joe DiMaggio will host a half-hour dramatic sports anthology for Hal Roach—it's slated for fall showing.

A French producer has approached Ingrid Bergman with a TV series in which she would play a portrait painter. "Big Story," a TV veteran, will be chopped from the NBC fall schedule.

Lescoulie Backstops Garroway

Dave Garroway takes a seven-week vacation from NBC-TV "Today" starting June 24. Jack Lescoulie will step out of "Tonight" to replace Garroway and won't return to the nighttime show.

George Gobel will unveil his real wife, Alice, on his last NBC-TV show this season, June 29. Wally Cox returns to TV on "Kraft Theatre" June 5 as a timid bank clerk in "The Roaring 20th."

Wendy Barrie will huddle with Fred Waring at Waring's golf resort in the Pocono Mountains Memorial Day weekend for talks about summer TV — Waring's Pennsylvanians replace Garry Moore's morning show on CBS-TV for six weeks starting July 22.

NBC-TV execs took a gander this week at a 58-minute film, "Professor Tim," starring Ireland's Abbey Theatre players—it may be slotted as a spectacular next season. "West Point" is getting its discharge from CBS-TV this fall with "Trackdown," a Texas rangers series, its probable replacement.

Baby's Looks Usually Change for Better

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

DON'T worry about the way your brand-new baby looks. Even if he looks like one of your in-laws, don't worry. He'll probably change.

One of the most noticeable features—and probably one of the most alarming—of most newborn babies is the nose. Frequently it is misshaped and somewhat flattened by birth.

Usually, however, it will assume a more shapely appearance with in a short time.

The skin of a newborn baby may take on a yellowish hue during ing the first few days of life. The colors range from a scarely visible shade to an intense jaundice. Again, the condition usually clears up within a few days.

The eyes of a newborn infant are very sensitive. He frowns, blinks or closes his eyes when confronted by a light. He will be unable to focus his eyes for several weeks.

All babies have blue eyes when born. Some may be dark and others may be light, but all are blue. A change to the color won't be noted until the tyke is about three months old.

The brown pigment or coloring matter makes a gradual appearance. By the time the infant is from six to eight months old, you'll be able to tell whether his eyes are blue, brown, gray or maybe green.

Most babies are born with rather long hair. Yet by the time they are three months old, their hair may be sparse. Don't worry.

A newborn infant has hair of a very fine texture which he gradually loses. As he grows new hair replace the baby hair, it often changes color.

So give that new tot a few months. You'll hardly recognize him.

Deaths Predicted

PITTSBURGH (UP)—At least four persons will die in traffic accidents in Western Pennsylvania Memorial Day, a safety expert predicted today.

SALLY'S SALLIES

"Which one of you gentlemen came in first?"

Don't Really Blame Overweight Person

NEW YORK (UP) - The newest scientific thought on the subject of people being overweight is that it is not the overweight person's fault — "in any moral sense." It is not the result of sloth or food greediness but the result of "metabolic disturbances."

This thought is that of Dr. Rosemary Murphy of the famous Lahey Clinic of Boston. Medical science must realize that in obesity it is "faced with a disease exceedingly common in occurrence and extremely resistant to treatment," she said.

By this time no one should think reducing is a simple matter of will power or a simple matter of anything else.

"Unfortunately the sole program has consisted in handing a low calorie diet to the patient and wishing him 'Good luck'" she said. "The patient looks on the diet as punishment and is likely to file it in the wastepaper basket.

Rather than handing out a 'diet' as a diet' doctors ought to 'concentrate on correcting the eating habits training the patient to sit at the table and to eat three times each day, to eliminate from the diet the so-called 'empty calories' and to include in the diet low calorie, but bulky foods so that the meals are not scanty in volume.

Very important "the patient must be convinced that the doctor realizes that the difficulty of weight reduction is not the fault of the patient but of the nature of the patient's problem. His relapses must be met with patience and encouragement, and he must never be allowed to consider himself a 'failure.'"

She urged doctors to find out just why patients were overweight, by finding out if their forebears were if their eating habits were responsible if "emotional trauma" was involved, if overweight had developed very slowly over years or very suddenly after some specific event like childbirth or a surgical operation.

Recommends Exercise

Surgical patients she pointed out are urged by friends and relatives to build themselves up and eat tempting foods and at the same time are told not to over-do things which causes them to exercise little.

She disagreed with the common practice of minimizing exercise as a way to reduce, saying "It should be realized that a certain degree of exercise added to a sedentary existence will cause no increase in appetite. While an individual may need to walk 30 miles to lose one pound, by the same token a walk of one mile daily will not affect the appetite and will be the equivalent to a weight loss of 10 pounds in one year."

Dr. Murphy expounded her new thoughts in the technical journal Postgraduate Medicine.

A Touch of Home

LONDON (UP)—A little bit of England was flown 3,500 miles from London to New York Wednesday night on a "sentimental journey." Water speed record holder Donald Campbell, son of Sir Malcolm, ordered the one pound of British earth sent to him at Canandaigua, N.Y., where he is preparing for new speed boat trials.

Cash Marketing Up

WASHINGTON (UP)- The Agriculture Department said today farm cash marketings in the first four months of 1957 totaled $8,100,000,000 up 3 per cent from the same period last year. Prices farmers received averaged nearly 4 per cent higher, but the volume of marketings was down slightly.

Actor Disputes Claim Made by Barney Ross

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Actor Cameron Mitchell is recovering from an ulcer operation today but he suffered worse pain, "A hit below the belt," he says, when he heard boxer Barney Ross turned movie critic.

Mitchell portrayed Ross, an ex-narcotics addict, in a movie about the fighter's life. "Monkey On My Back." The actor's enthusiastic friends raved he should cop an Oscar nomination—but the first reaction was a blast from Barney.

In a New York interview Barney rapped the picture as being 'cheap sensationalism." He also filed a suit claiming the ads damaged his reputation.

Mitchell Scores Comeback

But Mitchell rallied in an interview himself to deliver Ross a return uppercut.

"He was on the set every day of shooting," said Mitchell, talking rapidly with indignation. "Every day he saw the rushes and he'd throw his arms around me, kiss me and say, 'What a fantastic job this boy is doing!' He saw the finished picture and said it was the greatest movie ever made! He has a percentage of the profits—so why would he hurt our picture? He has no right to tear apart this labor of love."

Mitchell whipped out a newspaper clipping of an interview Ross gave here last February.

"'See,'" he said, 'this Mitchell is doing such a great job as me I can't hardly believe it,'" exclaimed Mitchell with the usual pride of an actor.

'Barney said, 'I've waited so long for this picture to be made with truth and honesty.' Does that sound like a man who later would say this picture is trash?'"

New Picture Trend

"Monkey On My Back" is part of a new trend for pictures about narcotics, and is more daring than "The Man With A Golden Arm" and "A Hatful of Rain." In "Monkey" Mitchell jabs a needle into his arm, a scene once taboo with Hollywood censors.

"But Barney coached me for that scene himself," Mitchell said. "He told me how your eyes nearly pop out, how your face gets warm, how there's a tremendous shock. "He made many suggestions, about the pain in the stomach, the cramps, nausea and kicking of legs. Some things we couldn't use because they were too strong—such as how he used to rip sheets and mattresses apart."

Mitchell was hauled to the hospital last week from the set of "No Down Payment" at 20th Century Fox and he says he collapsed "from the strain of the Barney Ross picture."

"Life With Father" had the longest run on Broadway. It ran for 3,224 performances.
